BULLETIN

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A campaign platform demanding a build-up in national "military, political, economic and moral" strength was adopted Tuesday night by the Democratic National Convention. It included a tough civil rights plank which Southerners tried but failed to eliminate.

Gov. Leroy Collins of Florida, the convention chairman, got almost as many noes as yeas on the platform. Indeed, it seemed as if the noes might be the louder.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A political blueprint for "restoring our national strength — military, political, economic and moral," was spread before the Democratic National Convention Tuesday night.

In typical something-for-everybody fashion, the party platform ranged for 15,000 words over a broad spectrum of foreign and domestic issues.

Top items were civil rights at home and Communist aggression abroad.

Addressing itself to Soviet rulers it said: "We confidently accept your challenge to competition in every field of human endeavor."

To Recast Capacity

On national defense, the platform pledged a recasting of this nation's military capacity "in order to provide forces and weapons of a diversity, balance, and mobility sufficient in quantity and quality to deter both limited and general aggression."

"We pledge our will, energies, and resources to oppose Communist aggression," it said.

"Our objective, however," it said, "is not the right to coexist in armed camps on the same planet with totalitarian ideologies; it is the creation of an enduring peace in which the universal values of human dignity, truth, and justice under law are finally secured for all men everywhere."

The platform promised creation of a national peace agency to plan and coordinate activities directed toward international arms control and eventual establishment of a stable peace.

It promised to overhaul administrative machinery so that this country may avoid diplomatic embarrassments like the U2 spy plane incident.

Not Peaceful Way

In an obvious reference to the Eisenhower administration's foreign policy, the platform declared a fragile power balance sustained by mutual nuclear terror does not constitute peace.

A 4,200-word summary of the full platform pledged a Democratic administration to use the full power of the federal government—legal and moral—to end racial discrimination in public education, voting, employment, housing transportation and in the administration of justice.

Southern delegates showed no enthusiasm for the civil rights plank. In fact they rejected it in a minority report as too extreme in the use of federal power.

Particularly galling to the Dixie delegates was a platform reference to recent sit-in demonstrations in the South.

"The peaceful demonstrations for first-class citizenship which have recently taken place in many parts of this country are a signal," it said, "to all of us to make good at long last the guarantees of our Constitution."

U.S. Note Warns Russians

Kennedy Meets Texans

Won't Tolerate Repetition Of Plane Incident

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States accused the Soviet Union Tuesday of recklessly shooting down an American plane well outside Soviet territory and solemnly warned of "most serious consequences" if there is repetition of such an act.

A note delivered in Moscow rejected a Soviet charge that an RB47 jet plane of the U.S. Air Force had violated Soviet air space before being shot down. The note declared the reconnaissance bomber was never closer than 30 miles to the Soviet coast.

The official message demanded immediate release of two surviving members of the plane's crew of six and called for return of the body of Capt. Willard G. Palm, commander of the aircraft. It also reserved the right to demand full compensation from the U.S.S.R. for shooting down the airplane.

Deliberate Attempt

Delivery of the diplomatic warning came some hours after White House press secretary James C. Hagerty on President Eisenhower's behalf characterized destruction of the aircraft as "a deliberate and reckless attempt to create an international incident."

The United States told the Soviet government that the plane was "on an entirely legitimate mission over international waters."

The mission was described as one of a series of "electromagnetic research flight well known to the Soviet government to have taken place over a period of more than 10 years."

Thus Washington rejected Moscow's charge in the protest note of Monday that the plane was on an espionage mission, heading in the direction of the Soviet port of Archangel.

The aircraft was lost July 1 in the Arctic, and the region of the Kola Peninsula where Norway and Moscow have a common border.

In its formal note the United States also:

1. Demanded that a representative of the U.S. Embassy in Moscow be allowed to see without delay the two U.S. Air Force officers, Lts. John R. McKone and F. B. Olmstead.

Protests Rejected

2. Rejected Soviet protests against the plane flight and decried "the cynical failure" of the Soviet government to disclose for 11 days what it knew of the plane's fate.

3. Offered to undertake in cooperation with the Soviet government and perhaps others a thorough search for the downed airplane and the three missing members of its crew. This appeared to be a challenge to the Soviets to join in finding out just where the aircraft went down.

4. Scorned the Soviet claim that the RB47 flight of July 1 and the U2 spy plane incident of May 1 were linked in a common pattern of espionage, saying, "these flights were, as must be known to the Soviet government, entirely different in character."

U.S. Rejects Congo's Plea For Troops

Slaying Of Three Soldiers Revives Explosive Situation

LEOPOLDVILLE, Congo (AP)—The lusty, hopeful nation that emerged to replace Belgium's mid-African colonial empire 12 days ago, asked Tuesday for American and Belgian troops to keep the country together and end bloodshed.

(The United States quickly rejected the Congo plea for troops unless they are part of a U.N. force. U.N. officials voiced doubts, noting that American or other big power troops in the Congo would be likely to complicate the situation.)

The drastic plea for aid was made while President Joseph Kasavubu and Premier Patrice Lumumba were out of the capital on a fruitless mission to restore order in Luluabourg and Elisabethville in two southeastern provinces.

A new incident, the killing of three Congolese soldiers by a Belgian aircraft, revived an explosive situation in Leopoldville.

Complete Disorder

Luluabourg in Kasai Province was in complete disorder, with all its white residents trying to get out. At least two Europeans were killed while besieged in an office building by Congolese marksmen perched in trees.

Premier Moise Tshombe of the rich hinterland Katanga Province, economic mainstay of the Congo because of its copper and uranium mines, proclaimed independence from the rest of the new nation Monday night.

But he was reported Tuesday to have had second thoughts. A communique said the provincial assembly and government are reexamining the situation with regard to Katanga's future.

But Tshombe was still refusing to recognize the authority of Congo Premier Lumumba, whom he accused of following disruptive Communist tactics.

European observers believed Tshombe backed down slightly because he realized his secession placed the Belgian government in the difficult position of choosing between Katanga and a unified Congo which it favors.

Troops In Action

Belgian troops, at Tshombe's request, already have been in action in Katanga in an effort to restore order.

Everywhere in the Congo white residents were fleeing to the nearest border.

More than 200 Americans, mostly missionaries and their families, were reported waiting at Luluabourg and Aketi to be rescued from the threat of marauding Congolese soldiers who have rebelled against their Belgian officers. None of the Americans was reported molested, however.

The request for U.S. troops was disclosed by Belgian Minister Walter Ganshof van der Meersch, sent to the Congo by his government to help the Congolese through the crisis. He said that under the government plan, Americans would serve with Belgian and Congolese troops under a joint command.

U.S. Flirting With War Says Khrushchev

MOSCOW (AP)—Nikita S. Khrushchev declared Tuesday the United States is flirting with war through continuing reconnaissance flights.

"We warn the government of the United States of its heavy responsibility," the Soviet Premier told a Kremlin news conference in discussing the six-jet RB47 shot down into Arctic waters July 1.

He declared two survivors of the six-man crew—Lts. John R. McKone and Freeman B. Olmstead—have admitted their British based craft was assigned to fly "on an espionage mission along the northern frontiers of the Soviet Union."

Khrushchev spoke Tuesday in a calm and unemotional manner, with none of the fire and fury of his utterances on his return from the abortive Paris summit conference. But there was acid in his phrases.

He called the RB47 case "this new act of perfidy." He said it demonstrated that President Eisenhower's assurance in Paris that reconnaissance flights over the Soviet Union had been discontinued was "not worth a bad penny."

As in the Soviet notes given to the United States, Britain and Norway Monday, Khrushchev said the RB47 flew into Soviet waters north of Svyatoy Nos (Holy Nose) Cape between Murmansk and Archangel. He said the plane was shot down after it refused to follow the fighter sent up to intercept it.

"The United States by these acts is clearly provoking a serious military conflict," he declared.

Clearly, Khrushchev did not consider the flight of the RB47 as serious a provocation as the U2 which flew 1,200 miles into the Soviet Union May 1 and was downed in the Urals near Sverdlovsk.

Top Rivals Meet Before Big Audience

Kennedy Invades Texas Stronghold; Gets More Backing

CONVENTION HALL, Los Angeles (AP) — John F. Kennedy jauntily invaded Lyndon B. Johnson's Texas stronghold Tuesday, tossed off the best his leading rival could throw, and eased on toward a Democratic presidential nomination that is everything but official.

The Massachusetts and Texas senators met face to face in a downtown hotel, before an audience sardined into a pie-shaped ballroom and a national audience at the TV sets.

Minutes later, the 81-vote California delegation to the Democratic National Convention conferred 30½ more votes on Kennedy. Johnson mustered 6½.

Kennedy shot up to 736 certain, openly pledged first ballot votes as tabulated by The Associated Press. He was then only 25 short of the 761 required to clinch the nomination.

Nobody much doubted—Johnson was an avowed exception — that Kennedy would poll the rest from delegates getting panicky to ride with a winner. Then it will be just a matter of formalities of a roll call when the convention gets around to candidate picking Wednesday night.

Act On Platform

Here in a municipal sports arena, Democrats began their second session of the convention, a session devoted to another outpouring of oratory and to action on a new party platform.

There was a new look, too, to the presiding officers. The Democrats elected Gov. Leroy Collins of Florida as their permanent chairman.

But the din and enthusiasm was something else again a bit later.

Adlai E. Stevenson, a delegate and a presidential hopeful, arrived at the hall. Crowds nearly mobbed him. Police had to shoehorn him through the door. A tremendous roar shook the arena.

Accompanied by Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, the man who captured the party presidential nomination in 1952 and 1956 was ushered to the speaker's platform.

He voiced his gratitude for a moving welcome to the 1960 convention and added one observation:

"After getting in and out of the Biltimore Hotel and this hall, I know now whom you're going to nominate. It will be the last survivor."

Bout At Hotel

It grew out of Kennedy's bid to every state—Texas included — to let him appear before its delegation. Johnson countered with a challenge to Kennedy to debate major issues facing the convention and country before a joint meeting of the Texas and Massachusetts delegations.

Neither man quite wanted to give in to terms of the other. They sparred for hours at long range, with telegrams and statements.

Finally, Johnson showed up in the ball room at the hour set for the Texas delegation to assemble, said he would be glad to let Kennedy to come forward.

Kennedy showed up with six Massachusetts delegates.

There wasn't any great debate, although it wasn't Johnson's fault. Kennedy just wasn't being goaded into any arguments. He simply turned aside all of Johnson's barbs with confident good humor.

At the end he all but invited Johnson to get out of the presidential contest and concentrate on being Senate leader.

But Johnson and other opponents refused to leap out of the way of a Kennedy bandwagon that never has lost momentum.

Stevenson even picked off one more vote in the California caucus than Kennedy did. But Stevenson sentiment probably runs stronger here than in any other part of the country.

Khrush Says Monroe Policy Is Dead Issue

MOSCOW (AP)—Premier Nikita Khrushchev denied Tuesday that the United States has any right to keep communism out of the Western Hemisphere. He claimed the Monroe Doctrine is dead.

At a news conference a correspondent asked Khrushchev if his support of Cuba's Fidel Castro is an attack on the doctrine—a cornerstone of U.S. policy for 137 years.

"The Monroe Doctrine has outlived its usefulness," Khrushchev retorted. "It has died a natural death."

President James Monroe in 1892 warned European powers that the United States barred foreign interference in Western Hemisphere affairs. The warning was directed particularly at Czarist Russia, which had been advancing claims to certain areas on the west coast of North America.

Recently President Eisenhower declared the United States would not permit international communism to dominate any government in the Western Hemisphere. To this, Khrushchev replied Tuesday:

"Who gave the United States the right to allow or disallow? What right has the United States to dispose of the destinies of any other nation?"

Hungarian Refugee Is Shot By Police

UNION, N.J. (AP) — Michael Fekecs, hunted by police in the murder of six persons, was shot Tuesday night by a patrolman on a dirt road off Oakland avenue, police said.

Fekecs, 25, a Hungarian refugee, had been sought by police throughout central New Jersey in connection with the slaying of two policemen in Highland Park last Sunday.

He was taken to Elizabeth General Hospital in critical condition with a bullet in the head.

Police said he was shot by Patrolman Walter J. Leamy, one of eight policemen who came upon Fekecs near the Irvington city line.

Middlesex County Prosecutor Edward J. Dolan said earlier that Fekecs had killed the policemen and had killed four other persons in North Brunswick last January.

Union police said they received a call about 7:45 p.m. stating that a suspicious looking man was in the area of Vauxhaull Road and Oakland Avenue.

Sgt. Michael Barry and Leamy went to the area. They had been part of the group searching for Fekecs.

Fekecs had been picked up Sunday for driving while on the revoked license list. Two Franklin Township patrolmen took him to his apartment in Highland Park so he could get $250 bail money.

The policemen later were found on the apartment floor, each shot with .32 caliber bullets. The murder weapon was missing. So was one .38 caliber revolver.

Dolan linked this crime with the killing of four people in North Brunswick last Jan. 26 on the basis of ballistic tests on the slugs taken from the bodies of all six victims. He said marks left by the gun barrel on all the bullets matched.

Buddy Adler, Hollywood Producer, Dies Of Cancer

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Maurice (Buddy) Adler, executive producer of 20th Century-Fox Studios, died Tuesday in Cedars of Lebanon Hospital of lung cancer. He was 51.

Among the movies he produced were "From Here to Eternity," "No Sad Songs for Me," "Anastasia," "The Inn of the Sixth Happiness," "Bus Stop," "Love Is a Many - Splendored Thing," "South Pacific" "Heaven Knows, Mr. Allison" and "A Hatful of Rain."

The handsome, gray-haired executive was born Maurice E. Adler on June 22, 1909, in his family's brownstone house in upper Manhattan.

His father was the prosperous head of a chain of small department stores called the Adler Stores.

Young Adler, who had three brothers, attended Columbia grammar school, the Townsend Harris school and Columbia University. He received a bachelor of arts degree from the Wharton School of Business at the University of Pennsylvania.

Turning to create writing after his graduation, he sold many stories to magazines — and continued to work for the family business for six years.

In 1940 he came to Hollywood, where, in his first year, he won his most treasured possession—an Oscar for a film short entitled "Quick As a Wink."

In that year, he also married former screen beauty Anita Louise, and their marriage was one of Hollywood's happiest.

They had a boy and a girl — Anthony, 8, and Melanie, 10.

After working for Metro - Goldwyn - Mayer and Columbia pictures, Adler went to Twentieth in 1954. In 1956, he succeeded Darryl Zanuck as the studio's executive producer.

John Hlavacek, of the National Broadcasting Company, also was detained. He was arrested after taking pictures of Moeser and Gooding as they returned to their hotel in soiled clothing from their cells.

A total of seven U. S. correspondents were detained by agents Tuesday, but four were allowed to leave.

FBI Nabs Pair In Act Of Dynamiting Dorm

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI)—The FBI charged Tuesday that it caught two white men lighting a slow fuse on 40 sticks of dynamite under a staircase of a Little Rock Negro college dormitory.

Two hours after FBI agents seized the two men early Tuesday, a bomb blew a 15-by-6 foot hole in the side of a public school warehouse and damaged two nearby homes.

The FBI was looking for a connection between the "sinister plot" to blow up the dormitory—Budlong Hall at Philander Smith College — and the warehouse bombing.

Little Rock, beset with integration troubles since late summer, 1957, has had a whole series of bombings, most apparently connected with attempts to integrate public schools.

The FBI said the two men it caught trying to blow up the dormitory were Emmett E. Miller, 44, and Robert Lloyd Parks, 39, of West Memphis, Ark.

They later seized Hugh Lynn Adams, 33, of Bassett, Ark., and accused him of being an accomplice of Miller and Parks.

The FBI charged that it followed the three men through every step of a plot to bomb the dormitory.

While they questioned Miller and Parks at 4:17 a.m. e.d.t. Tuesday, the bomb exploded beside the warehouse.

Khrushchev spoke Tuesday in a calm and unemotional manner with none of the fire and fury of his utterances on his return from the abortive Paris summit conference. But there was acid in his phrases.

He called the RB47 case "this new act of perfidy." He said it demonstrated that President Eisenhower's assurance in Paris that reconnaissance flights over the Soviet Union had been discontinued was "not worth a bad penny."

As in the Soviet notes given to the United States, Britain and Norway Monday, Khrushchev said the RB47 flew into Soviet waters north of Svyatoy Nos (Holy Nose) Cape between Murmansk and Archangel. He said the plane was shot down after it refused to follow the fighter sent up to intercept it.

"The United States by these acts is clearly provoking a serious military conflict," he declared.

Clearly, Khrushchev did not consider the flight of the RB47 as serious a provocation as the U2 which flew 1,200 miles into the Soviet Union May 1 and was downed in the Urals near Sverdlovsk.

Top Rivals Meet Before Big Audience

Kennedy Invades Texas Stronghold; Gets More Backing

CONVENTION HALL, Los Angeles (AP) — John F. Kennedy jauntily invaded Lyndon B. Johnson's Texas stronghold Tuesday, tossed off the best his leading rival could throw, and eased on toward a Democratic presidential nomination that is everything but official.

The Massachusetts and Texas senators met face to face in a downtown hotel, before an audience sardined into a pie-shaped ballroom and a national audience at the TV sets.

Minutes later, the 81-vote California delegation to the Democratic National Convention conferred 30½ more votes on Kennedy. Johnson mustered 6½.

Kennedy shot up to 736 certain, openly pledged first ballot votes as tabulated by The Associated Press. He was then only 25 short of the 761 required to clinch the nomination.

Nobody much doubted—Johnson was an avowed exception — that Kennedy would poll the rest from delegates getting panicky to ride with a winner. Then it will be just a matter of formalities of a roll call when the convention gets around to candidate picking Wednesday night.

Act On Platform

Here in a municipal sports arena, Democrats began their second session of the convention, a session devoted to another outpouring of oratory and to action on a new party platform.

There was a new look, too, to the presiding officers. The Democrats elected Gov. Leroy Collins of Florida as their permanent chairman.

But the din and enthusiasm was something else again a bit later.

Adlai E. Stevenson, a delegate and a presidential hopeful, arrived at the hall. Crowds nearly mobbed him. Police had to shoehorn him through the door. A tremendous roar shook the arena.

Accompanied by Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, the man who captured the party presidential nomination in 1952 and 1956 was ushered to the speaker's platform.

He voiced his gratitude for a moving welcome to the 1960 convention and added one observation:

"After getting in and out of the Biltimore Hotel and this hall, I know now whom you're going to nominate. It will be the last survivor."

Bout At Hotel

It grew out of Kennedy's bid to every state—Texas included — to let him appear before its delegation. Johnson countered with a challenge to Kennedy to debate major issues facing the convention and country before a joint meeting of the Texas and Massachusetts delegations.

Neither man quite wanted to give in to terms of the other. They sparred for hours at long range, with telegrams and statements.

Finally, Johnson showed up in the ball room at the hour set for the Texas delegation to assemble, said he would be glad to let Kennedy to come forward.

Kennedy showed up with six Massachusetts delegates.

There wasn't any great debate, although it wasn't Johnson's fault. Kennedy just wasn't being goaded into any arguments. He simply turned aside all of Johnson's barbs with confident good humor.

At the end he all but invited Johnson to get out of the presidential contest and concentrate on being Senate leader.

But Johnson and other opponents refused to leap out of the way of a Kennedy bandwagon that never has lost momentum.

Stevenson even picked off one more vote in the California caucus than Kennedy did. But Stevenson sentiment probably runs stronger here than in any other part of the country.

Khrush Says Monroe Policy Is Dead Issue

MOSCOW (AP)—Premier Nikita Khrushchev denied Tuesday that the United States has any right to keep communism out of the Western Hemisphere. He claimed the Monroe Doctrine is dead.

At a news conference a correspondent asked Khrushchev if his support of Cuba's Fidel Castro is an attack on the doctrine—a cornerstone of U.S. policy for 137 years.

"The Monroe Doctrine has outlived its usefulness," Khrushchev retorted. "It has died a natural death."

President James Monroe in 1892 warned European powers that the United States barred foreign interference in Western Hemisphere affairs. The warning was directed particularly at Czarist Russia, which had been advancing claims to certain areas on the west coast of North America.

Recently President Eisenhower declared the United States would not permit international communism to dominate any government in the Western Hemisphere. To this, Khrushchev replied Tuesday:

"Who gave the United States the right to allow or disallow? What right has the United States to dispose of the destinies of any other nation?"

Hungarian Refugee Is Shot By Police

UNION, N.J. (AP) — Michael Fekecs, hunted by police in the murder of six persons, was shot Tuesday night by a patrolman on a dirt road off Oakland avenue, police said.

Fekecs, 25, a Hungarian refugee, had been sought by police throughout central New Jersey in connection with the slaying of two policemen in Highland Park last Sunday.

He was taken to Elizabeth General Hospital in critical condition with a bullet in the head.

Police said he was shot by Patrolman Walter J. Leamy, one of eight policemen who came upon Fekecs near the Irvington city line.

Middlesex County Prosecutor Edward J. Dolan said earlier that Fekecs had killed the policemen and had killed four other persons in North Brunswick last January.

Union police said they received a call about 7:45 p.m. stating that a suspicious looking man was in the area of Vauxhaull Road and Oakland Avenue.

Sgt. Michael Barry and Leamy went to the area. They had been part of the group searching for Fekecs.

Fekecs had been picked up Sunday for driving while on the revoked license list. Two Franklin Township patrolmen took him to his apartment in Highland Park so he could get $250 bail money.

The policemen later were found on the apartment floor, each shot with .32 caliber bullets. The murder weapon was missing. So was one .38 caliber revolver.

Dolan linked this crime with the killing of four people in North Brunswick last Jan. 26 on the basis of ballistic tests on the slugs taken from the bodies of all six victims. He said marks left by the gun barrel on all the bullets matched.

Three Newsmen Held In Cuba

HAVANA (UPI) — Premier Fidel Castro's secret agents Tuesday night detained three American newsmen, two of whom they had just released, on suspicion of "presenting the revolution in a bad light."

William Moeser, of the Miami Daily News, and Judson Gooding, of Time-Life, were taken to military intelligence headquarters for questioning only a few hours after they were released from their earlier detention.

John Hlavacek, of the National Broadcasting Company, also was detained. He was arrested after taking pictures of Moeser and Gooding as they returned to their hotel in soiled clothing from their cells.

A total of seven U. S. correspondents were detained by agents Tuesday, but four were allowed to leave.

Buddy Adler, Hollywood Producer, Dies Of Cancer

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Maurice (Buddy) Adler, executive producer of 20th Century-Fox Studios, died Tuesday in Cedars of Lebanon Hospital of lung cancer. He was 51.

Among the movies he produced were "From Here to Eternity," "No Sad Songs for Me," "Anastasia," "The Inn of the Sixth Happiness," "Bus Stop," "Love Is a Many - Splendored Thing," "South Pacific" "Heaven Knows, Mr. Allison" and "A Hatful of Rain."

The handsome, gray-haired executive was born Maurice E. Adler on June 22, 1909, in his family's brownstone house in upper Manhattan.

His father was the prosperous head of a chain of small department stores called the Adler Stores.

Young Adler, who had three brothers, attended Columbia grammar school, the Townsend Harris school and Columbia University. He received a bachelor of arts degree from the Wharton School of Business at the University of Pennsylvania.

Turning to create writing after his graduation, he sold many stories to magazines — and continued to work for the family business for six years.

In 1940 he came to Hollywood, where, in his first year, he won his most treasured possession—an Oscar for a film short entitled "Quick As a Wink."

In that year, he also married former screen beauty Anita Louise, and their marriage was one of Hollywood's happiest.

They had a boy and a girl — Anthony, 8, and Melanie, 10.

After working for Metro - Goldwyn - Mayer and Columbia pictures, Adler went to Twentieth in 1954. In 1956, he succeeded Darryl Zanuck as the studio's executive producer.

FBI Nabs Pair In Act Of Dynamiting Dorm

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI)—The FBI charged Tuesday that it caught two white men lighting a slow fuse on 40 sticks of dynamite under a staircase of a Little Rock Negro college dormitory.

Two hours after FBI agents seized the two men early Tuesday, a bomb blew a 15-by-6 foot hole in the side of a public school warehouse and damaged two nearby homes.

The FBI was looking for a connection between the "sinister plot" to blow up the dormitory—Budlong Hall at Philander Smith College — and the warehouse bombing.

Little Rock, beset with integration troubles since late summer, 1957, has had a whole series of bombings, most apparently connected with attempts to integrate public schools.

The FBI said the two men it caught trying to blow up the dormitory were Emmett E. Miller, 44, and Robert Lloyd Parks, 39, of West Memphis, Ark.

They later seized Hugh Lynn Adams, 33, of Bassett, Ark., and accused him of being an accomplice of Miller and Parks.

The FBI charged that it followed the three men through every step of a plot to bomb the dormitory.

Jet Planes Collide

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — The Argentine Air Ministry reported Tuesday that two Argentine Air Force jet fighters collided in flight over Pontevedra, a suburb 20 miles southwest of Buenos Aires.

There was no report on the fate of the pilots or on how many other persons were aboard.

Summertime Job Seekers Send Unemployment Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — The greatest summertime outpouring of young job seekers from schools in the nation's history sent both unemployment and employment totals soaring in June.

The Labor Department announced Tuesday that employment rose by 1,400,000 to a record of 68,579,000. Joblessness increased by nearly one million to 4,423,000, leaving 5½ per cent of the civilian labor force looking for work.

In the political campaign ahead, Democrats can be expected to point to the totals as proof that the GOP-Eisenhower administration has failed to sustain the nation's economy. The Republicans, on the other hand, can be expected to interpret the figures as evidence that the administration has kept the nation economically sound.

Nearly half of June's unemployed were between 14 and 24. The accent on youth in the monthly job report was described by the department's manpower expert, Dr. Seymour Wolfbein, as foreshadowing the "manpower challenge of the 1960s.

Wolfbein was referring to the inevitable great increases in the number of youngsters who will enter the labor force each year of this decade, the products of the nation's postwar baby boom.

He noted that the labor force—meaning job holders and job hunters combined—reached a record 73 million last month.

This was 2,300,000 greater than in May. Teen-agers accounted for all except about 100,000 of the increase.

Although most of them found jobs promptly, about 800,000 did not. Another 100,000 of the one million increase in the unemployed were 20 to 24.

Nobody Hurt In Duel Between Political Giants

By RELMAN MORIN

LOS ANGELES (AP) — It was a real flossy political duel.

The two front runners for the Democratic presidential nomination, John Fitzgerald Kennedy of Massachusetts and Lyndon Baines Johnson of Texas, lunged, riposted, and fanned the air with verbal swordplay Tuesday — and nobody got hurt much.

Rebel yells rose from Johnson's sallies. Kennedy drew cheers and clapping. Both stirred gales of laughter.

From the standpoint of decibels, it was a draw.

It all started when Kennedy included Texas among the other 49 delegations to whom he sent telegrams requesting an opportunity to speak. Johnson, in reply, suggested that he and Kennedy appear together in a joint meeting of the Texas and Massachusetts groups.

Kennedy replied he didn't need to be accompanied by his delegation and would come alone. Johnson said that wouldn't do.

So for a time it appeared that the great debate wouldn't come off.

Then Kennedy's brother, Bobby, had a talk with the Texas people. Presently, the grand ballroom at the Biltmore Hotel began filling. Before long, it was jammed with the Texas delegation in almost full strength, between 600 and 700 reporters and photographers, several hundred unaffiliated onlookers, and four delegates and two alternates from Massachusetts.

At the start, you would have thought Johnson was nominating Kennedy for president, and vice versa.

They both said, "distinguished senator . . . my great friend . . . a man who has served his country with distinction." And so on.

Then, having gotten the compliments out of the way, each made his pitch.

And Johnson got a laugh when he said, "I hope nobody will ever be able to say that Jack Kennedy couldn't win because he's" — he paused and you thought you knew what the next word would be—"an Easterner."

Two Policemen Are Discharged

WASHINGTON (AP) — A trial board Tuesday found two police privates guilty of misconduct charges and recommended their removal from the force.

The charges stem from what a 31-year-old Washington housemaid claims was a sexual assault on her by four policemen last Feb. 28. The two other policemen resigned from the force after a court acquitted all four of rape charges.

The two privates, Bobbie R. Campbell and Owen W. Cunningham, both 30, were found guilty of conduct unbecoming a police officer, conduct prejudicial to the reputation of the police force, willfully making an untruthful statement and willful disobedience of orders.

No Walkout Seen If Demos Adopt Platform

By LOUIS G. PANOS

LOS ANGELES (AP)—West Virginia's member of the Democratic Platform Committee said Tuesday a strong civil rights plank will not cause any walkout by Southern delegates to the party convention.

Former Rep. Robert M. Mollohan said this conviction was based on a conversation with Rep.Oren Harris of Arkansas, one of the states opposing the plank.

"Harris told me that Arkansas will vote against the civil rights plank and will vote against the platform," said Mollohan. "But he said there will be no walkout by Arkansas delegates if the platform is adopted — and I'm certain it will be."

Mollohan is one of the 109 committee members who drafted the platform. It is expected to include a promise that the party will work for the elimination of literacy tests and poll taxes — two of the chief weapons used by segregationists in the denial of voting rights to Negroes.

What about West Virginia?

"No problem," declared Mollohan. "We're going to take the platform as written. Civil Rights have been no issue in West Virginia since the Supreme Court ruling on school desegregation. Just about all of our schools are integrated now."

Mollohan's appraisal was seconded by Sen. Jennings Randolph.

The senator, spotted in line at a lavish breakfast-lunch reception given by noted hostess Perle Mesta, quickly dismissed a question on civil rights.

"The platform will go through—Pfft!—like that. Just the way it reaches the floor," he declared.

The West Virginia delegates, who heard appeals from representatives of major presidential candidates yesterday, have not been formally polled. But Delegation Chairman Ward Wylie, who headed Sen. John F. Kennedy's successful primary campaign in West Virginia, said the Massachusetts senator still can count on at least 19½ of the state's 25 nominating votes.

UN Task Force To Study Tense Congo Situation

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United Nations decided Tuesday to rush an administrative task force, including security experts, to the Congo in an effort to restore order.

Whether outside troops will have to be sent was under discussion. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold talked with Secretary of State Christian A. Herter by telephone on this problem, informed quarters said.

Members of the 11-nation Security Council will meet informally with Hammarskjold Wednesday morning on the Congo situation.

Hammarskjold met with representatives of nine African countries and informed them of his plans to open a special U.N. assistance office in Leopoldville.

Any U.S. move to send troops appeared to have been shelved at least temporarily after the reported conversation between Herter and Hammarskjold. The feeling at the U.N. is that any outside troops sent to the Congo should not come from any of the big powers.

Strength Increased

SEOUL (AP)—The U.S. Army strength in Korea has been increased by 3,000 men effective July 1 to help reduce the number of South Korean soldiers now assigned to two U.S. Army divisions.

Pretty Coed Raped, Slain By Salesman

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) —A pretty, 19-year-old coed whose screenwriter father wrote "Act of Murder" was raped and murdered by a Bible salesman early Tuesday on the Los Angeles City College campus.

The near-nude body of Nina T. Thoeren, strangled with her red capri pants, was found at a campus construction project where Negro ex-convict Raymond W. Clemmons, 36, told police he accosted her as she walked home at 1:30 a.m. The victim's head was propped on the foot of a stairway with her sweater and underclothing pulled up over her face. Her schoolbooks were scattered nearby.

Police, called by residents who heard screaming, arrived in time to arrest Clemmons, a "two-time" loser paroled by California authorities in 1958 following a previous conviction for rape. Officers said Clemmons was just stepping into his car.

Clemmons readily admitted the slaying police said, claiming the girl, daughter of the late screenwriter Robert Thorern, accepted his offer of a ride when he saw her walking along a dimly - lit street from her job at a bookstore.

"I made passes at her," Clemmons told detectives. "She said she was going to get out and leave and she started walking away from the car."

The suspect said he caught her and began strangling her, officers related and "then I dragged her about 20 feet off the sidewalk. . ."

Man Is Killed In Fall From Train

GREENSBURG, Pa. (UPI)—Julius Timar, 52, Houston, Pa., was injured fatally early Tuesday when he apparently fell from a passenger train at nearby Sutersville.

The Westmoreland County Coroner's Office said Timar was en route to Martinsburg, W.Va., on a Baltimore & Ohio train at the time he fell. Cause of death was listed as a skull fracture.

Lithuania Refugee Desires To Return To Her Country

CHICAGO (UPI)—It took Nikita Khrushchev to get Regina Leonas to the United States. It appeared Tuesday it would take even more to keep her here.

Regina, 20, said she wanted to return to Communist Lithuania.

Politics had nothing to do with it. All she wanted was love.

"It's a boy," her father, Paulius Leonas said. "He's a music student in Lithuania and they write at least once a week. I don't know what to do."

It was Leonas' personal appeal to Russian Premier Khrushchev in Iowa last autumn which resulted in Lithuanian authorities permitting Regina and her brother, Tomas, 17, to be reunited with Leonas and his wife, Elena.

The Leonases had left the children behind in 1944, when they fled west a step ahead of the oncoming Red army.

"For 15 years, Elena and I prayed for our children to come," Leonas, a Chicago real estate agent, said. "Now they are here and one of them wants to go back. Love, it is blind."

Leonas said Regina told him on her arrival in January that she never really wanted to come in the first place. She said she had wanted to marry her boy friend, Stasys Bikulcius, 20, and stay in Lithuania, but decided to come "for a visit" to see her parents.

"We have tried introducing her to other boys," Leonas said, "but the selection is limited because Regina speaks only a little English. For dates, she has gone with sons of our friends but it is not enough. She still talks just of Stasys."

Leonas said he ever considered trying to bring Stasys to the United States.

"It is quite hard, though," Leonas said. "The American immigration authorities will not recognize a marriage by proxy so the only way for Stasys to come over would be through an act of Congress. Otherwise, Regina would have to return to Lithuania for the marriage and then we do not know if either she or Stasys would be permitted to come out."

Sailor Indicted In Man's Death

The 21 - year - old sailor was charged with murder in the death of Frank J. Gordon, 37, who died four days after the beating.

Pindel freely admitted to police that he kicked and beat Gordon when the parking lot operator attempted to stop a friend of Pindel's from kicking out a car's headlights in the lot.

George: And he almost flipped when we told him the same GAS Unit would beat the whole house, too.

32 mpg 50 mpg 28 mpg
Why?
Depends on how you drive it. And where.
Driven by a pro in an economy run, a stock Volkswagen will average close to 50 miles per gallon.
But for everyday driving, you should figure on getting about 32 miles to the gallon with a Volkswagen.
You'll notice we lay it right on the line; none of that "up to so-many miles per gallon." This occasionally draws an indignant letter from:
(1) A VW owner who gets closer to 37 mpg (usually because he drives at slower, more constant speeds).
(2) A VW owner who gets closer to 28 mpg (usually because of a high percentage of stop-and-go driving, or a heavy foot, or possibly an out-of-tune engine).
But the figure of 32 mpg has stood up well over the years.
And you can put this in your bankbook: an initial cost of only $1669 and less depreciation than any other car. Practically no oil between changes. No anti-freeze, radiator or water hose expenses. Phenomenally low tire wear (40,000 miles isn't unusual). Inexpensive spare parts. And an engine that's seldom in the repair shop.

Then, having gotten the compliments out of the way, each made his pitch.

Kennedy indirectly twitted Johnson for not having entered any primary elections. Jack went into seven and won them all.

And Johnson got a laugh when he said, "I hope nobody will ever be able to say that Jack Kennedy couldn't win because he's" — he paused and you thought you knew what the next word would be—"an Easterner."

Two Policemen Are Discharged

WASHINGTON (AP) — A trial board Tuesday found two police privates guilty of misconduct charges and recommended their removal from the force.

The charges stem from what a 31-year-old Washington housemaid claims was a sexual assault on her by four policemen last Feb. 28. The two other policemen resigned from the force after a court acquitted all four of rape charges.

The two privates, Bobbie R. Campbell and Owen W. Cunningham, both 30, were found guilty of conduct unbecoming a police officer, conduct prejudicial to the reputation of the police force, willfully making an untruthful statement and willful disobedience of orders.

No Walkout Seen If Demos Adopt Platform

By LOUIS G. PANOS

LOS ANGELES (AP)—West Virginia's member of the Democratic Platform Committee said Tuesday a strong civil rights plank will not cause any walkout by Southern delegates to the party convention.

Former Rep. Robert M. Mollohan said this conviction was based on a conversation with Rep. Oren Harris of Arkansas, one of the states opposing the plank.

"Harris told me that Arkansas will vote against the civil rights plank and will vote against the platform," said Mollohan. "But he said there will be no walkout by Arkansas delegates if the platform is adopted — and I'm certain it will be."

Mollohan is one of the 109 committee members who drafted the platform. It is expected to include a promise that the party will work for the elimination of literacy tests and poll taxes — two of the chief weapons used by segregationists in the denial of voting rights to Negroes.

What about West Virginia?

"No problem," declared Mollohan. "We're going to take the platform as written. Civil Rights have been no issue in West Virginia since the Supreme Court ruling on school desegregation. Just about all of our schools are integrated now."

Mollohan's appraisal was seconded by Sen. Jennings Randolph.

The senator, spotted in line at a lavish breakfast-lunch reception given by noted hostess Perle Mesta, quickly dismissed a question on civil rights.

"The platform will go through—Pfft!—like that. Just the way it reaches the floor," he declared.

The West Virginia delegates, who heard appeals from representatives of major presidential candidates yesterday, have not been formally polled. But Delegation Chairman Ward Wylie, who headed Sen. John F. Kennedy's successful primary campaign in West Virginia, said the Massachusetts senator still can count on at least 19½ of the state's 25 nominating votes.

UN Task Force To Study Tense Congo Situation

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United Nations decided Tuesday to rush an administrative task force, including security experts, to the Congo in an effort to restore order.

Whether outside troops will have to be sent was under discussion. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold talked with Secretary of State Christian A. Herter by telephone on this problem, informed quarters said.

Members of the 11-nation Security Council will meet informally with Hammarskjold Wednesday morning on the Congo situation.

Hammarskjold met with representatives of nine African countries and informed them of his plans to open a special U.N. assistance office in Leopoldville.

Any U.S. move to send troops appeared to have been shelved at least temporarily after the reported conversation between Herter and Hammarskjold. The feeling at the U.N. is that any outside troops sent to the Congo should not come from any of the big powers.

Strength Increased

SEOUL (AP)—The U.S. Army strength in Korea has been increased by 3,000 men effective July 1 to help reduce the number of South Korean soldiers now assigned to two U.S. Army divisions.

Pretty Coed Raped, Slain By Salesman

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) —A pretty, 19-year-old coed whose screenwriter father wrote "Act of Murder" was raped and murdered by a Bible salesman early Tuesday on the Los Angeles City College campus.

The near-nude body of Nina T. Thoeren, strangled with her red capri pants, was found at a campus construction project where Negro ex-convict Raymond W. Clemmons, 36, told police he accosted her as she walked home at 1:30 a.m. The victim's head was propped on the foot of a stairway with her sweater and underclothing pulled up over her face. Her schoolbooks were scattered nearby.

Police, called by residents who heard screaming, arrived in time to arrest Clemmons, a "two-time" loser paroled by California authorities in 1958 following a previous conviction for rape. Officers said Clemmons was just stepping into his car.

Clemmons readily admitted the slaying police said, claiming the girl, daughter of the late screenwriter Robert Thorern, accepted his offer of a ride when he saw her walking along a dimly - lit street from her job at a bookstore.

"I made passes at her," Clemmons told detectives. "She said she was going to get out and leave and she started walking away from the car."

The suspect said he caught her and began strangling her, officers related and "then I dragged her about 20 feet off the sidewalk. . ."

Man Is Killed In Fall From Train

The Westmoreland County Coroner's Office said Timar was en route to Martinsburg, W.Va., on a Baltimore & Ohio train at the time he fell. Cause of death was listed as a skull fracture.

Lithuania Refugee Desires To Return To Her Country

CHICAGO (UPI)—It took Nikita Khrushchev to get Regina Leonas to the United States. It appeared Tuesday it would take even more to keep her here.

Regina, 20, said she wanted to return to Communist Lithuania.

Politics had nothing to do with it. All she wanted was love.

"It's a boy," her father, Paulius Leonas said. "He's a music student in Lithuania and they write at least once a week. I don't know what to do."

It was Leonas' personal appeal to Russian Premier Khrushchev in Iowa last autumn which resulted in Lithuanian authorities permitting Regina and her brother Tomas, 17, to be reunited with Leonas and his wife, Elena.

The Leonases had left the children behind in 1944, when they fled west a step ahead of the oncoming Red army.

"For 15 years, Elena and I prayed for our children to come," Leonas, a Chicago real estate agent, said. "Now they are here and one of them wants to go back. Love, it is blind."

Leonas said Regina told him on her arrival in January that she never really wanted to come in the first place. She said she had wanted to marry her boy friend, Stasys Bikulcius, 20, and stay in Lithuania, but decided to come "for a visit" to see her parents.

"We have tried introducing her to other boys," Leonas said, "but the selection is limited because Regina speaks only a little English. For dates, she has gone with sons of our friends but it is not enough. She still talks just of Stasys."

Leonas said he ever considered trying to bring Stasys to the United States.

"It is quite hard, though," Leonas said. "The American immigration authorities will not recognize a marriage by proxy so the only way for Stasys to come over would be through an act of Congress. Otherwise, Regina would have to return to Lithuania for the marriage and then we do not know if either she or Stasys would be permitted to come out."

Sailor Indicted In Man's Death

The 21 - year - old sailor was charged with murder in the death of Frank J. Gordon, 37, who died four days after the beating.

Pindel freely admitted to police that he kicked and beat Gordon when the parking lot operator attempted to stop a friend of Pindel's from kicking out a car's headlights in the lot.

Why?

Depends on how you drive it. And where.

Driven by a pro in an economy run, a stock Volkswagen will average close to 50 miles per gallon.

But for everyday driving, you should figure on getting about 32 miles to the gallon with a Volkswagen.

You'll notice we lay it right on the line; none of that "up to so-many miles per gallon." This occasionally draws an indignant letter from:

(1) A VW owner who gets closer to 37 mpg (usually because he drives at slower, more constant speeds).

(2) A VW owner who gets closer to 28 mpg (usually because of a high percentage of stop-and-go driving, or a heavy foot, or possibly an out-of-tune engine).

But the figure of 32 mpg has stood up well over the years.

And you can put this in your bankbook: an initial cost of only $1669 and less depreciation than any other car. Practically no oil between changes. No anti-freeze, radiator or water hose expenses. Phenomenally low tire wear (40,000 miles isn't unusual). Inexpensive spare parts. And an engine that's seldom in the repair shop.

"Weren't we smart to get GAS Whole House Air Conditioning"

Casper the Bassett: I'm as cool as a hound's nose. And just sniff that air. Sure makes me feel like a million.

George: Hey, I just thought of something. My hay fever hasn't acted up once.

Casper: That's because the air's filtered and cleaned. Say did you hear what our dear neighbor said when he was over here. Surprised it wasn't noisy or too cold.

George: And he almost flipped when we told him the same GAS Unit would beat the whole house, too.

Casper: He got me aside and wanted to know "how much." I told him—we put the whole thing on our mortgage for about $10.00 more a month. That got him!

Prison Site Search Narrows

BALTIMORE (AP)—The search for a site for Maryland's new 10 million dollar medium security prison has narrowed to three or four locations, Superintendent of Prisons James W. Curran announced Tuesday.

He said selection of the site would be announced within 30 days.

The new prison would handle 1,000 selected inmates, to be transferred from other over-crowded institutions as part of a new rehabiliation program.

Curran reported that the prison population in the state has increased from 5,290 to 5,500 since the first of the year.

Preparation of plans for the new institution will take about a year and construction another 18 months, State Planning Director James J. O'Donnell said.

Last year the Board of Public Works rejected a Frederick County site for the institution, while prison officials vetoed a proposal to locate it on the ground for the Reformatory for Males near Hagerstown.

Children Found Playing With Live Gun Shell

BALTIMORE (AP) — A woman called police. She said some children in her neighborhood were playing with what looked like a bomb.

Officers who answered the call from Mrs. Reah Rita found a 76 millimeter Navy gun shell, its fuse and mechanical timing device intact.

A black and white painted brass casing had been added to the bomb. Police said it appeared to have been used as a doorstop or a driveway marker, and had been picked up by the children at play.

The deadly device was examined by experts of the 28th Ordnance Detachment at Ft. Meade. They said a powerful jar could have exploded the bomb.

No Violations In W. Va. Voting

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Justice Department said Tuesday an extensive investigation of the May 10 primaries in Logan County, W. Va. failed to show any violations of federal election laws.

It was in West Virginia that Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts defeated Sen. Hubert Humphreyof Minnesota and knocked him out of the Democratic presidential nomination race.

The department said a similar inquiry in West Virginia's Wayne County has not been completed.

The Logan investigations stemmed from charges by Mayor Clyde Freeman of Chapmanville, Logan County, that "all sorts of irregularities" including vote-buying and ballot-box stuffing had occurred.

The Justice Department had pointed out there is no federal law specifically covering vote-buying in primary elections, but said the FBI would look into the allegations of general irregularities.

Man Is Charged With Homicide

BALTIMORE (AP) — A homicide charge was filed Tuesday against a State employe accused of a fatal assault on his bride of 40 days.

Under arrest was Linwood W. Pusey, 47, a license examiner for the State Department of Motor Vehicles. His 47-year-old wife, Emma, was found dead in the couple's apartment last Saturday.

Dr. William Lovitt, deputy medical examiner, said Mrs. Pusey died of asphyxiation caused by a blow on the throat.

Rees Hearing Is Postponed Until July 22

BALTIMORE (AP) — The arraignment of Melvin D. Rees Jr. on kidnap-murder charges has been postponed from Friday until July 22, U. S. Atty. Leon H. A. Pierson said Tuesday.

The new date was fixed by the U. S. District Court at the request of William J. Evans, Rees' court-appointed defense attorney. After conferring with the Hyattsville jazz musician for the first time, Evans said more time was needed to plan his defense.

Evans, former assistant U.S. attorney for Maryland, and William J. O'Donnell, former state's attorney for Baltimore City, were appointed Monday to defend Rees after he informed Federal Judge R. Dorsey Watkins he lacked funds to hire counsel.

U.S. Atty. Leon H. A. Pierson said the arraignment probably would be rescheduled for July 22.

Their bodies were found in a shallow grave in a woodland near Gambrills, about two miles from where Mrs. Margaret V. Harold was shot to death in 1957.

Rees is also charged in neighboring Anne Arundel County with slaying Mrs. Harold.

In addition, Rees is charged in Virginia with slaying Mrs. Jackson's husband and their 18-month-old daughter Janet. Their bodies were found in a sawdust pile near Fredericksburg, Va., about two weeks before the mother and oldest daughter were located.

Firemen Planning July 24 Reunion

Truck Plunges Into Patapsco

BALTIMORE (AP) — A truck loaded with 24,000 pounds of bananas plunged down a 20-foot embankment into the Patapsco River Tuesday when its brakes failed.

The driver, Wade B. Billing, 27, Baltimore, jumped from the cab of the truck before it started its slide. He was not hurt.

Theft Reported

BALTIMORE (AP) — Police Tuesday reported the theft of $8,212 in jewelry, fur, perfume and cash from an apartment whose residents were away on vacation.

The loot included a mink cape valued at $1,500 and a platinum watch and bracelet with 182 diamonds worth $2,065, the owner, Webb Seibold, told police.

WASHINGTON (AP) — About 25,000 persons from 30 states and Canada are expected to attend a Bible-study convention of Jehova's Witnesses at Griffith Stadium July 14-17.

Montgomery Seeks End To Dispute

ROCKVILLE, Md. (AP) — The Montgomery County Council voted Tuesday to set up a commission to seek settlement of disputes over segregation at the nearby Glen Echo Amusement Park and a Rockville restaurant.

The Commission on Interracial Problems will meet with operators of both establishments to find ways "whereby the good name of Montgomery County and its public peace may be continued."

Unanimous council action came after County Atty. Alfred H. Carter said the council lacked authority to adopt an ordinance to desegregate private facilities.

Councilman Stanley B. Frosh, who proposed the commission, said it is needed to head off possible disorders at Glen Echo if an injunction is granted to bar park guards from arresting demonstrators.

Six Negroes are seeking the injunction in Federal Court at Baltimore. They challenged use of the guards, who are also county sheriff's deputies, to maintain segregation at the park.

If the injunction is granted, Frosh said, "the most aggressive or militant elements of both sides of the integration issue would be free to create incidents that could get out of control."

"Before this happens I think the council has to make a definite attempt to prevent disruption to our reputation and good order," he added.

Sixteen arrests, mostly on trespassing charges, have been made at Glen Echo since demonstrations began June 30.

Guard Indicted

TOWSON, Md. (AP) — A detective agency guard at Sheppard Pratt Hospital has been indicted for manslaughter in the slaying of a kitchen employe at the mental institution.

Harvey W. Lawson, 43, of Woodstock, Howard County, was charged in the June 21 fatal shooting of Charles P. Richardson, 20, Baltimore.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

"Always Right" Is The Wrong Attitude!

All of us take views we believe to be right, and there's nothing wrong with sticking to them unless it's with a closed mind. But the girl who is always right, and never misses an opportunity to put everyone else straight, is missing opportunities for happy relations with others. She may make her point every time, but it isn't necessarily a point in her favor.

This is a fault that sometimes grows unnoticed. A career girl, for example, builds up a sound knowledge of her business and takes a strong and aggressive stand which may begin to show unpleasantly. She asks less and less often, makes flat statements too often.

Watch for early signs of this forbidding attitude in yourself. Listen carefully for these expressions in your speech, "I'll prove what I say"; "Am I not right?"; "Didn't I tell you?" "No, it should be done this way." Hear these and other phrases like them too often, and they're unmistakable danger signals.

Now stop a minute — do you notice any career-threatening danger signals about yourself? Charm is the keystone to a successful career . . . and an always-right-er isn't ever charming. YOUR STEPS TO A SUCCESSFUL CAREER keeps you posted on what winning ways are suitable to the office . . . and how to acquire them. For your success-inducing copy, just send 10c and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to "Secrets of Charm," c/o this newspaper. You won't regret it; I know what I'm talking about!

The person who really knows what he is talking about has less need to prove it than the person whose knowledge falls short. Quiet assurance inspires confidence, but to impress the world that you're right all the time sets you too far apart from the rest of us — the rest of us, who sometimes have been known to make mistakes.

Students Note Plant Accounting

A group of students from the income tax and advanced accounting classes of Davis and Elkins College, Elkins, had an educational tour of Amcelle Plant of Celanese Fibers Company yesterday.

H. W. McCunn, supervisor of plant personnel administration, arranged the planned tour for the group led by Professor R. H. Carder, chairman of the college's economics and business department.

The object of the visit, according to Carder, is to give the students an opportunity to see the workings of a corporation and to observe accounting in action.

The company's accounting department held a seminar yesterday afternoon to show techniques of record systems and how they apply to Amcelle Plant.

City Taxes Cutback Is Possibility

The city's fiscal year closed June 30 and various departmental budget requests are expected within the next two weeks so deliberations can begin on setting of the tax levy and appropriations by August 25 as required by law.

While it is still early for definite commitments on 1960-61, two possibilities are presented. They are:

(1) A surplus equalling and possibly exceeding the $196,000 with which the city began the 1959-60 fiscal year; and

(2) The prospects of a one-cent decrease in the tax rate.

If the drop in the tax rate comes, it will be because the assessable base (value of property) has increased.

City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson in commenting on the question said that despite the addition of $300,000 in Cumberland Thruway bonds to debt service in the last year, it is possible that an increase in the assessable base will eliminate any increase in taxes and might give "a penny or so" reduction in that portion of the tax rate.

That would mean a rate of $1.55 for each $100 of assessable property and mark the second year the rate has dropped one cent.

Included in 1959-60 fiscal year's tax rate, was $1.25 for city operations and 31 cents for debt service. The one cent reduction last year was the result of a penny drop in the debt service charge.

State-shared revenue collections and an "overage" in appropriations—unused department funds—will be the means of bringing the surplus to at least last year's level, it is believed.

As of today, no department has submitted a budget request and Gibson said they are expected by the end of the month.

The first budget request was submitted Monday by the Cumberland Municipal Concert Band which asks $6,050. Last year, the band submitted a request for $6,875. The city appropriated $500.

In its request for 1960-61, the band lists $4,400 for salaries of 40 musicians who give 10 concerts and attend rehearsal 52 weeks a year; $460 conductor's expense; $240 secretary's expense; $75 treasurer's expense; $240 librarian's expense; $100 for music and instrument expense, transportation of large instruments and chairs to concerts; and $35 for office supplies.

Of the $6,050 requested, the band asked that $3,025 be appropriated so the 1960 concert season could be completed.

Sen. See To Meet With County Board

State Senator Charles See will meet with the Allegany County Board of Commissioners next Monday at 2 p. m. to confer on the secondary road program in the county.

Arrangements for the meeting were completed yesterday by the commissioners.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: We know a couple whom we consider close friends. They are intelligent, good company and well-respected in the community. My wife admires them both and this has led to a family argument.

This couple consider themselves ultra modern and highly sophisticated. They have two teen-age children, a boy 15 and a girl 17. The parents tell risque jokes and use profanity (and worse) in the presence of their children.

The other evening Mrs. ——— told a story that had some pretty high voltage language. Their children were there and so was our 16-year-old son.

When the kids left I told Mrs. ——— I thought her joke was unsuitable for the kids. She replied, "Don't be so naive. The kids know as much as we do. I believe in treating them as adults."

Her husband backed her up and my wife agreed. The odds were three to one and I lost. How about it?

— STANDING ALONE

DEAR STANDING: Hold the bets. The odds just changed. I'm with you.

I believe in treating teen-agers like adults, too, but using profanity and telling off-color jokes in their presence is not "treating them like adults" — it merely confuses them.

Children look up to parents as idols and models. As time goes on the idol totters a little and the model tarnishes. This is inevitable because the childhood concept of mother and father is perfection — and nobody is perfect.

No matter how much kids know about life they neither expect nor want their parents to operate on the level you describe. It does not flatter teen-agers — it offends them.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: If you were in my place, what would you say? A certain woman in our club always serves milk instead of cream. We all know it's milk. Should we say "Please pass the milk?" Or, should we let her think she's putting one over and say "Please pass the cream?" Thank you. — HER FRIENDS

DEAR FRIENDS: Now THIS is a problem of earth-shattering importance!

Maybe the considerate hostess is serving milk instead of cream because you dames are too heavy and she's politely helping you count your calories. Why not say, "Please pass the pitcher" — and let it go at that?

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm a boy 17 who has never had much trouble socially. Whenever I wanted to go with a girl I went with her, and that's all there was to it.

Four months ago a new chick moved to town and I liked her looks from the minute I saw her. I've taken her out 16 times and have not been able to get even a goodnight kiss out of her.

I've never asked her for a reason, because I feel if, after 16 dates, a girl has any feeling for a boy she would not have to be talked into anything. She would WANT to kiss him goodnight.

Please don't misunderstand. I don't want to make an evening of pawing and necking. I just think after all these dates a kiss is not out of order.

Shall I have a talk with her or just break off?

— MR. DO LITTLE

DEAR MR. DO LITTLE: I'll reply to your question by playing back part of your own letter: "If, after 16 dates, a girl has any feeling for a boy she would not have to be asked. She would want to kiss him goodnight."

Does almost everyone have a good time but you? If so, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "How To Be Well-Liked," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

B&O Is Seeking Permit For Repairs To Crossing

The B&O Railroad is seeking a permit for rebuilding and repairing of the Baltimore Street crossing.

City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum said the matter will be discussed at a meeting at 10 a. m. today in the office of Police and Fire Commissioner Philmore Fleming to be attended by members of the Mayor and Council, Police Chief B. Frank Gaffney, Lt. Raymond R. Johnston, head of the traffic division, and officials of the B&O.

Problems involved are complicated from both the standpoint of the railroad and the city. The railroad must keep its trains moving over the main line tracks and the city must keep its vehicular traffic moving.

In excess of 10,000 vehicles use the Baltimore Street crossing daily, according to the most recent surveys conducted by the city.

If the cr... routing would be necessary. In recent wee... different times repaired both the Union and Harrison streets crossings.

Meter Income Dips

Parking meter revenue for the week ending July 3 totaled $780.20, a decrease of $60.20 from the previous week, the Mayor and Council was told.

New Boat Law Enforcement To Begin Soon

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Enforcement of a new state law requiring registration of boats operating on Maryland waters begins this weekend.

The Tidewater Fisheries Commission and the Department of Game and Inland Fish have handed out several hundred warnings to unlicensed boat operators since July 3.

Roy W. Rafter, chief inspector for the Tidewater agency, said the warning notices would be replaced by summonses as enforcement efforts are tightened.

Violation of the new law, which became effective June 1, carries a maximum penalty of a $200 fine. The $6 licenses are required on all power boats equipped with an engine greater than 7½ horsepower and on all sailboats longer than 25 feet.

So far about 37,000 applications for licenses have been received. The TFC estimated between 95,000 and 125,000 Maryland boats would come under provisions of the act.

County Pay Raise Plan Under Study

The meeting of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday was featured by another discussion of the pay increase problem for county workers.

Leslie J. Clark, attorney to the board, informed the commissioners that under the Civil Service regulations increases must follow the increment listed under the various classifications.

Clark is checking into the matter and told the commissioners he will submit an opinion Friday covering the subject.

Commissioner William A. Wilson made a motion that the increases requested by the sheriff's office and state's attorney's office be granted.

Commissioner John J. Rowan said the increases should be granted to these employes in view of the mandatory nature of the increases for employes under jurisdiction of Circuit Court. No vote was taken on Wilson's motion pending Clark's report.

Clark said there are certain employes who are to receive increases under the increment plan provided and they may not qualify for the entire $200.

Commissioner Wilson said the pay scales for workers at the three institutions, Infirmary, County Home and Sylvan Retreat as well as the Roads Department will not affect their $200 annual increase.

Judge Tells Police To Take Notes

Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris yesterday advised county police officers that the primary item in the investigation of cases is to make and keep written notes.

Judge Harris spoke at the police seminar being conducted at the Cumberland Police Headquarters.

The jurist, who was state's attorney for Allegany County for many years, commented that police officers should not trust their memory as to dates, hour of the day and other details. "I have seen some officers do it and make a mess of things," he pointed out.

Judge Harris also advised the officers not to lose their exhibits involved in cases. He said that he has known whisky to evaporate in drunk driving cases, and guns, knives and other items should be carefully preserved by the police department until the case is finally disposed of.

"I believe strongly in photography in presenting a criminal case to the court or jury. A good picture can sometimes tell a story more convincing than thousands of words of testimony," the jurist declared.

The judge also said officers should testify in cases in a dignified manner and with the utmost regard for the truth. There should be no exaggeration nor understatement.

"There never seemed to me to be any good reason for one officer to get the impression that the accused was under the influence of intoxicants and another officer to get the impression that the accused was sober. I think it is a reflection on the officers, and the department for officers to take the stand and contradict one another on matters in which there can be no honest difference of opinion."

Judge Harris also said that in some instances a drawing or plat of the scene of a crime is more effective than a photograph. Any officer who has an aptitude for this type of work should be encouraged, he added.

The jurist then outlined the manner in which a case is prepared, the safeguards for the accused and manner of presentation of the facts to a grand jury and to the courts.

He also commented America seems to harbor more of a widespread spirit of lawlessness than other civilized countries. Statistics show that the United States has a murder rate of 100 per million population as compared to five to the million in England.

In a preface of his talk on presentation of evidence, Judge Harris stated he "has never been able to determine why but there are more nonsensical petty jealousies in police departments than there are in the mind of a jealous wife."

There is more of a need for cooperation among police officers than there is on a football team or baseball team. "You cannot work effectively unless all officers working on a case know what each other does; unless one shift knows what the other shift does you will not have an efficient department," the jurist concluded.

The oldest tree on the White House grounds is an elm planted by John Quincy Adams.

The rhododendron is the state flower and the western hemlock is the state tree of Washington.

Two Offices Are To Move By Sept. 1

Two agencies which are housed in the annex building of the County Library on Washington Street have been notified by the library board of trustees that they will have to vacate the structure by September 1.

The offices are the Allegany County Stabilization and Conservation unit and the Soil Conservation agency. Martin Gordon, conservationist with the soil unit, appeared before the Allegany County Board of Commissioners to inquire if quarters are available in county buildings.

Commissioner John Tucker Mason said if a building to house the voting machines was provided, the space in the Court House used to store the devices could be used for the Soil Conservation agency.

Mason said if the county would erect a structure on Prospect Square in the section of Johnson Street adjacent to the County Jail the voting machines could be stored there.

The project would require permission of the City of Cumberland for closing off the street. The street, which is not used for traffic, runs from Greene Street to Prospect Square.

Commissioner John J. Rowan stated the cost of such a structure would probably be extensive.

It had been planned to use the basement of an addition to the County Infirmary for a detention quarters but this plan was dropped when the financing of the addition could not be arranged.

The county board placed $16,000 in the current budget for the detention quarters with the understanding the state and federal government would provide matching funds. It developed that the state and federal government would not grant the funds under the program envisioned.

A technicality pertaining to the type of structure to be built and failure to come under terms of the matching aid programs of the state and federal governments killed this proposal, according to the commissioners.

Man Unable To Stand Trial For Murder

Ira Didawick, 62, of Delray, who was indicted three months ago by the Hampshire County Grand Jury at Romney for the fatal shooting of his wife, "is not mentally able to stand trial now."

Officials at Weston State Hospital, where Didawick was taken for examination and treatment, Monday notified Judge H. Gus Muntzing of the man's condition.

Court proceedings in the case were deferred pending another report from the Weston institution. Didawick wounded himself in the head after slaying his wife, Andra May, 54, at their home.

Indicted on two charges of forgery, Charles Hinkle Monday was sentenced in Hampshire County Circuit Court at Romney to serve two to ten years in prison on each count. The terms will run concurrently.

However, Judge Muntzing recommended that Hinkle serve the full ten years. The alleged forgery was used against Albert Corbin.

A 17-year-old youth whose escapades a year ago included the slaughtering of sheep and other incidents, for which he was placed on probation, was arraigned on a charge of unlawful possession of a weapon.

Samuel and Virginia Hott, who served 90 days in jail for a series of cottage breaking and enterings, and for contributing to the delinquency of their minor son, were placed on probation for five years.

Samuel Montgomery, 19, of Levels, who was charged with the theft of gasoline from a school bus, was placed on probation for 18 months.

Continued until the September term of court was the case of Calvin Largent, 19, also of Levels, who is serving a term in the county jail. He is accused of being involved in a series of incidents.

New Boat Law Enforcement To Begin Soon

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Enforcement of a new state law requiring registration of boats operating on Maryland waters begins this weekend.

The Tidewater Fisheries Commission and the Department of Game and Inland Fish have handed out several hundred warnings to unlicensed boat operators since July 3.

Roy W. Rafter, chief inspector for the Tidewater agency, said the warning notices would be replaced by summonses as enforcement efforts are tightened.

Violation of the new law, which became effective June 1, carries a maximum penalty of a $200 fine. The $6 licenses are required on all power boats equipped with an engine greater than 7½ horsepower and on all sailboats longer than 25 feet.

So far about 37,000 applications for licenses have been received. The TFC estimated between 95,000 and 125,000 Maryland boats would come under provisions of the act.

County Pay Raise Plan Under Study

The meeting of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday was featured by another discussion of the pay increase problem for county workers.

Leslie J. Clark, attorney to the board, informed the commissioners that under the Civil Service regulations increases must follow the increment listed under the various classifications.

Clark is checking into the matter and told the commissioners he will submit an opinion Friday covering the subject.

Commissioner William A. Wilson made a motion that the increases requested by the sheriff's office and state's attorney's office be granted.

Commissioner John J. Rowan said the increases should be granted to these employes in view of the mandatory nature of the increases for employes under jurisdiction of Circuit Court. No vote was taken on Wilson's motion pending Clark's report.

Clark said there are certain employes who are to receive increases under the increment plan provided and they may not qualify for the entire $200.

Commissioner Wilson said the pay scales for workers at the three institutions, Infirmary, County Home and Sylvan Retreat as well as the Roads Department will not affect their $200 annual increase.

ESKIMO BEAUTY IN ROLE

Nicholas II, last czar of Russia, was forced to abdicate by the revolution that followed the defeat by Germany. He was murdered by the Bolshevists on July 17, 1918.

Judge Tells Police To Take Notes

Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris yesterday advised county police officers that the primary item in the investigation of cases is to make and keep written notes.

Judge Harris spoke at the police seminar being conducted at the Cumberland Police Headquarters.

The jurist, who was state's attorney for Allegany County for many years, commented that police officers should not trust their memory as to dates, hour of the day and other details. "I have seen some officers do it and make a mess of things," he pointed out.

Judge Harris also advised the officers not to lose their exhibits involved in cases. He said that he has known whisky to evaporate in drunk driving cases, and guns, knives and other items should be carefully preserved by the police department until the case is finally disposed of.

"I believe strongly in photography in presenting a criminal case to the court or jury. A good picture can sometimes tell a story more convincing than thousands of words of testimony," the jurist declared.

The judge also said officers should testify in cases in a dignified manner and with the utmost regard for the truth. There should be no exaggeration nor understatement.

"There never seemed to me to be any good reason for one officer to get the impression that the accused was under the influence of intoxicants and another officer to get the impression that the accused was sober. I think it is a reflection on the officers, and the department for officers to take the stand and contradict one another on matters in which there can be no honest difference of opinion."

Judge Harris also said that in some instances a drawing or plat of the scene of a crime is more effective than a photograph. Any officer who has an aptitude for this type of work should be encouraged, he added.

The jurist then outlined the manner in which a case is prepared, the safeguards for the accused and manner of presentation of the facts to a grand jury and to the courts.

He also commented America seems to harbor more of a widespread spirit of lawlessness than other civilized countries. Statistics show that the United States has a murder rate of 100 per million population as compared to five to the million in England.

In a preface of his talk on presentation of evidence, Judge Harris stated he "has never been able to determine why but there are more nonsensical petty jealousies in police departments than there are in the mind of a jealous wife."

There is more of a need for cooperation among police officers than there is on a football team or baseball team. "You cannot work effectively unless all officers working on a case know what each other does; unless one shift knows what the other shift does you will not have an efficient department," the jurist concluded.

The oldest tree on the White House grounds is an elm planted by John Quincy Adams.

The rhododendron is the state flower and the western hemlock is the state tree of Washington.

Two Offices Are To Move By Sept. 1

Two agencies which are housed in the annex building of the County Library on Washington Street have been notified by the library board of trustees that they will have to vacate the structure by September 1.

The offices are the Allegany County Stabilization and Conservation unit and the Soil Conservation agency. Martin Gordon, conservationist with the soil unit, appeared before the Allegany County Board of Commissioners to inquire if quarters are available in county buildings.

Commissioner John Tucker Mason said if a building to house the voting machines was provided, the space in the Court House used to store the devices could be used for the Soil Conservation agency.

Mason said if the county would erect a structure on Prospect Square in the section of Johnson Street adjacent to the County Jail the voting machines could be stored there.

The project would require permission of the City of Cumberland for closing off the street. The street, which is not used for traffic, runs from Greene Street to Prospect Square.

Commissioner John J. Rowan stated the cost of such a structure would probably be extensive.

It had been planned to use the basement of an addition to the County Infirmary for a detention quarters but this plan was dropped when the financing of the addition could not be arranged.

The county board placed $16,000 in the current budget for the detention quarters with the understanding the state and federal government would provide matching funds. It developed that the state and federal government would not grant the funds under the program envisioned.

A technicality pertaining to the type of structure to be built and failure to come under terms of the matching aid programs of the state and federal governments killed this proposal, according to the commissioners.

Man Unable To Stand Trial For Murder

Ira Didawick, 62, of Delray, who was indicted three months ago by the Hampshire County Grand Jury at Romney for the fatal shooting of his wife, "is not mentally able to stand trial now."

Officials at Weston State Hospital, where Didawick was taken for examination and treatment, Monday notified Judge H. Gus Muntzing of the man's condition.

Court proceedings in the case were deferred pending another report from the Weston institution. Didawick wounded himself in the head after slaying his wife, Andra May, 54, at their home.

Indicted on two charges of forgery, Charles Hinkle Monday was sentenced in Hampshire County Circuit Court at Romney to serve two to ten years in prison on each count. The terms will run concurrently.

However, Judge Muntzing recommended that Hinkle serve the full ten years. The alleged forgery was used against Albert Corbin.

A 17-year-old youth whose escapades a year ago included the slaughtering of sheep and other incidents, for which he was placed on probation, was arraigned on a charge of unlawful possession of a weapon.

Samuel and Virginia Hott, who served 90 days in jail for a series of cottage breaking and enterings, and for contributing to the delinquency of their minor son, were placed on probation for five years.

Samuel Montgomery, 19, of Levels, who was charged with the theft of gasoline from a school bus, was placed on probation for 18 months.

Continued until the September term of court was the case of Calvin Largent, 19, also of Levels, who is serving a term in the county jail. He is accused of being involved in a series of incidents.

Court Probates Two Wills Here

Two wills were probated yesterday in Allegany County Orphans Court.

One was the last testament of Charles Hermann Beck, 81-year-old former Westernport resident, who died June 26 at the Peninsula Hospital in Salisbury on the Eastern Shore.

John William Beck, a nephew of Salisbury, with whom Mr. Beck had been residing since last November, qualified as executor under a $100 bond. The will provided a $100 bequest to Mt. Calvary Lutheran Church of Westernport and left the rest of estate equally to John William Beck and another nephew, Kenneth F. Beck, of Cumberland, and their wives. This will was incorrectly dated November 31, 1959.

Also probated yesterday was the last will of Harry Homer Price Jr., a 57-year-old local barber, who died June 12. His widow, Eleanor Lucille Price, RFD 1, Homewood Addition, qualified as executrix under a $100 bond. She was the sole beneficiary under terms of the October 10, 1953, will.

Library Board Studies Plans For Bookmobile

The Allegany County Library Board of Trustees, meeting at the Court House, studied plans and specifications for a county bookmobile and authorized a committee to proceed with ordering it.

The committee, composed of John T. Mason, F. Allan Weatherholt, Dr. Adam Baer and Miss Mary G. Walsh, reported a meeting with representatives of the firm which builds the mobile units. Delivery will not be possible before late October or early November, as the vehicles are custom-built to meet local needs and specifications.

The trustees approved the payroll for library employes for the first half of July, approved a budget for the fiscal year which began July 1, and made a preliminary study of by-laws.

The next meeting of the board will be July 25 at 7:30 p. m. at the Court House.

New Polio Vaccine Ready For Use

NEW YORK (AP) — The first 120,000 doses of a new high-powered polio vaccine — reportedly able to immunize most persons in just two shots—are ready for use, it was announced Tuesday.

With the polio season already under way, higher risk areas of the South and Southwest will be given priority on ordering the vaccine, reported the manufacturer, Merck & Co.

The new vaccine is essentially more pure and concentrated than ordinary Salk vaccine. It also contains a substitute strain of polio virus to provide immunity against type 1 polio.

Dwelling Permit Is Issued Here

The permit, according to James G. Stevenson, clerk to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners, calls for a frame dwelling which will cost about $6,000. He said it will have a concrete block foundation, composition roof and basement.

Local 568 To Meet

Local 568, Iron Workers Union, will hold a membership meeting Saturday at 8 p. m. in the Allegany Labor Temple.

Breathalyzer Explained At Seminar Here

The use of the Breathalyzer, an instrument which can determine the sobriety of a motorist, was explained and demonstrated yesterday afternoon during a seminar held at City Police headquarters.

Some 62 local, county and state law-enforcing officers attended the seminar which was held under the co-sponsorship of the local police department and the state police.

Sergeant Joseph A. McIsaac of the state police headquarters at Pikesville, gave the background on the machine and explained its use through a series of color slides.

Later he carried on a test by using an alcoholic solution which was prepared beforehand. Going still farther, a man who had consumed a quantity of beer was taken into the seminar room and voluntarily submitted to a test.

At the completion of the test, Sgt. McIsaac pointed out that the man was in the "twilight zone," which apparently is not far from being inebriated.

Sergeant McIsaac pointed out there are seven steps to be taken in determining the sobriety of a motorist with the use of the breathalyzer and he explained a check list is important since it "takes guess work away."

After a short break there was an open discussion on local police problems headed by Major M. M. Puncke.

Among the problems discussed were juvenile delinquency, traffic, "hot pursuit" of offenders, and action to take in the event of disturbances at private homes.

In commenting on juvenile delinquency, Assistant State's Attorney Donald Mason pointed out that he feels many future juvenile cases can be averted by warning of the children or parents. Police officers should use discretion and common judgment, he said.

Police Chief B. Frank Gaffney aired the traffic situation in Cumberland and commented on a certain intersection where four stop signs have been installed in order to cut down on accidents.

In closing the seminar Major Puncke, on behalf of Colonel Carey Jarman, superintendent of the State Police, expressed appreciation for the attendance and said he would be back next year to air other subjects of similar importance.

Chief Gaffney thanked the state police and hoped they would be back in the near future for similar seminars.

Following Commissioner Fleming's talk, Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris spoke to the group of cooperation within the department and courtroom procedure.

Lt. G. R. Cole of the Maryland State Police also discussed courtroom procedure, touching on the part police officers must play in court, and how they should prepare themselves for court appearances.

The LaVale Barracks of State Police was represented by Lt. W. E. O'Hara, barracks commander; Sgt. Harry S. Bosley, and Troopers Donald Wade, John Sweitzer and J. W. McFarland.

Other police officers attending were Chief Donald Griffith, Sgt. Karl T. Hetz, Edward V. Bevan, W. R. Goebel and Donald M. Miller of Frostburg; Chief George Kirkwood of Lonaconing; Deputy Sheriff Louis T. Helman; Lt. Bernard Bealky, Sgt. H. W. Davis, and Patrolmen James H. Snyder and A. W. Ballard of the Western Maryland Railway Police Department; Patrolman F. D. Martin, and S. H. Wandless of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Department, and William B. Byrnes, of the Department of Motor Vehicles of Maryland.

Twenty-five members of the Cumberland Police Department also attended the session.

James S. Getty, state's attorney; Donald W. Mason, assistant, and Edwin R. Lilya, county investigator, represented the State's Attorney's Office, while the Trial Magistrates Association was represented by F. Allan Weatherholt, Paul Barnett and Louis Fatkin.

Pennsylvania As The King-Maker

Pennsylvania delegations to the Democratic and Republican Presidential nominating conventions usually don't have to jump on the successful candidates' bandwagons — they usually are driving them. This record, combined with 81 delegate votes, is one reason why candidates for this year's Democratic Presidential nomination are treating Gov. David Lawrence like a king-maker.

The Governor so far has refrained from declaring his choice. He reportedly is fearful that Sen. John F. Kennedy's religion might prove a liability in the November election. Lawrence is himself a Catholic. His past record is one of support for Adlai Stevenson.

The 36 votes the Keystone state delegation gave Stevenson on the first ballot at the 1952 convention constituted his greatest support from any delegation other than Illinois. All 70 Pennsylvania votes went to Stevenson on the climactic third ballot that year. In 1956, of 74 Pennsylvania delegate votes 67 were for Stevenson on the first and only Presidential ballot of that convention.

Pennsylvania's 54 votes for Estes Kefauver on the first ballot of the wide-open 1956 Vice Presidential balloting constituted the most votes for Kefauver from any state. Kefauver, it will be recalled, edged Kennedy for the nomination on the second ballot.

No challenge is anticipated to Richard M. Nixon's claim to this year's Republican Presidential nomination, so Pennsylvania's role in the GOP convention will be less pivotal than in the past. Pennsylvania delivered 53 of 72 votes to President Eisenhower on the first ballot of the 1952 proceedings to doom the hopes of Sen. Robert A. Taft. And in 1948 Sen. Edward Martin was able to deliver 41 of the 73 "favorite son" votes to New York Gov. Thomas E. Dewey on the first ballot, paving the way for Dewey's third ballot victory over Taft and Harold Stassen.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Sugar Quota

The first effective step, the 1960 Sugar Act, has been taken by Congress against Castro's Cuba. The step is late — surely a year late — but it is now law. Castro is already squealing like a stuck pig.

Despite Castro's intimate relationship with Soviet Russia, Cuba's economy depended upon two main factors—the United States purchase of the Cuban sugar crop at a price that was over two cents above the world price and American tourism. The sugar quota and price were a direct subsidy, this country taking from Cuba a quota which for 1960 amounted to 3,119,655 tons. This was 200,000 tons more than for 1959. How any such increase in the quota could be justified for 1960 is beyond belief.

Actually Cuba supplied more sugar than continental American cane or beet growers. In other words, the United States increased its subsidy to Castro while Castro was seizing American property and conducting an anti-American campaign throughout Latin America.

The passage of the Sugar Act, which is definitely and overtly designed against Castro, is the first salutary step that our government has taken against Castro. The policy of the State Department has been to do nothing about Cuba, lest Soviet Russia take retaliatory steps in Turkey and Iran. It is this negative policy, pursued since the death of John Foster Dulles, which has been so costly in Paris and Tokyo and Havana. It is a policy of response to Russia's initiative.

The Cuban situation gives ample evidence that it is now taking the initiative in Latin America. Fidel Castro has not only established a People's Republic—the first stage of a Communist revolution—but as is usual in such enterprises, Soviet personnel, including Red Chinese, have come to Cuba in large numbers to assist in the establishment of the new administration. Anastas Mikoyan came to Cuba to formalize arrangements and reciprocal visits are being prepared between Khrushchev and Castro.

The State Department failed to meet these events and continued to subsidize the Castro regime through the sugar bounty. True, the quotas are set by Congress but it was the duty of the State Department to call attention to the dangers of the subsidy and to issue a statement to the public which could not be misunderstood.

There is no sugar shortage. Cuba's sugar will not be missed. It is possible that Soviet Russia may come to the aid of Cuba but if Castro cannot get a better deal out of Russia on sugar than he got on oil, it will not be long before the economic pinch in Cuba will be sorely felt.

If Americans assume that such an economic pinch will seriously influence Castro's policies, they are mistaken. Communists are never affected by the sufferings of their people. When Stalin needed heavy machinery, he exported butter so that the Ukrainian peasants had none. The export of butter gave him the foreign exchange he needed to buy the machinery. It will be no different in Cuba. The people will be fed the pabulum of hate-speeches and wild promises for the future which they will believe, because hungry people like to hate. They like to blame someone besides themselves for their misfortunes. They will blame the United States.

On the other hand, to Soviet Russia, Cuba is a pawn on a very wide chessboard. As it stands now, Cuba is a source of great embarrassment to the United States and it will remain such no matter who is elected President. Soviet Russia is playing the Cuban pawn to see what move we will make. Thus far, we have made no move. Shocked by the collapse of the Summit Conference of Paris, by the anti-Eisenhower riots in Tokyo, involved in the confusions of a national election, we have not moved significantly.

Meanwhile, Khrushchev has been having his ideological problems with Red China over the nature of his orthodoxy. The central accusation against Khrushchev by Red China is that Khrushchev is pro-American! By that is meant that he does not believe that war is essential to destroy imperialism. By imperialism is meant American capitalism.

Much can happen during the next year that could leave Cuba without a friend. Even if, perchance, Adlai Stevenson were to be Secretary of State, he could not make a deal with Soviet Russia that would tolerate Russia's advantage in Cuba.

Kennedy Works Out New Technique For Getting Democrat Nomination

By Drew Pearson

LOS ANGELES — Sen. Jack Kennedy developed a new technique for getting the Democratic presidential nomination, which he will do today—and the smoke-filled rooms of Los Angeles had nothing to do with it.

There have been plenty of Kennedy huddles in smoke-filled rooms in other cities, but they took place before Los Angeles. Kennedy knew that, if he didn't have the nomination practically won before he got here, the old pros, backed by Harry Truman, would gang up on him, despite his hard-won primaries and his well-demonstrated ability to win votes. He had seen what happened to Sen. Estes Kefauver in 1952 when Estes beat the bushes and won the primaries, only to be undercut by the big city bosses.

So Kennedy's deals were made before he got here. And they were unfolded by key governors with the clockwork precision of an old-time ringmaster cracking the whip.

If Kennedy prepares for the November election with the same ruthless efficiency that he prepared for this convention, Nixon will be in for trouble.

"Kennedy—On Schedule

For instance, the newly nominated Governor of North Carolina, Terry Sanford, arrived in Los Angeles at 9 p. m., called a press conference for 9 a. m. He did not consult other North Carolina delegates. He knew exactly what he wanted to say, and when he wanted to say it. He announced for Kennedy.

Asked whether he had conferred with Kennedy forces in North Carolina, the Governor admitted he had talked. What was not admitted and was not known, however, is that, some time before, Sanford had sent word to Sen. Lyndon Johnson through his former schoolmate, Robert Redwine, who works in the Senate, that he would be for Johnson. Redwine added that Sanford was running up some big campaign expenses and needed financial help. Johnson replied that he was against taking sides in primaries.

Later Bobby Kennedy, the Senator's indefatigable younger brother, made a quiet trip to North Carolina. Sanford had rolled up $106,000 of campaign expenses in his first primary—more than was spent by all three of his opponents. In the final run-off he spent considerably more.

After Bobby Kennedy's visit, Sanford suddenly cooled toward Johnson, the man he wanted to support and the man from whom he asked campaign contributions. Johnson sent one of his aides to North Carolina to see him. But things had changed. The future Governor was cool as a cucumber. He was not interested in Johnson; he was not interested in campaign funds. He did say he would call Senator Johnson the day after his final primary.

He never did. Sanford went to Los Angeles, arrived at 9 p. m. and announced for Kennedy at 9 a. m. next day. His statement was part of Kennedy psychological warfare.

And Philadelphia's Boss Green

Then there was the case of Congressman Bill Green, Democratic boss of Philadelphia. He controls about one-third of the Pennsylvania delegates, is a tough, Tammany-type bargainer. The Justice Department once indicted him in connection with alleged government contract finagling, but Green beat the rap, now aspires to run for the Senate against Sen. Joseph Clark, former Mayor of Philadelphia, also a Democrat.

Bobby Baker, right-hand man to Lyndon Johnson, had several talks with Green. He was friendly. Pennsylvania's votes would not go to Kennedy. But in their last talk Green was not friendly. The boss of Philadelphia clammed up. Later it leaked out that Green's delegates had switched to Kennedy. Another part of the young Massachusetts Senator's psychological warfare. According to Green's friends, he will get heavy support in his race for the Senate against fellow Democrat Joe Clark of Philadelphia.

Overdone "Hospitality"

Just before the convention opened, room 3115 at the Biltmore Hotel hung out a shingle "Southern Hospitality" and proceeded to pass out anti-Johnson literature. Some of it was poisonous. It branded Johnson a "traitor to the South," called him responsible for the Civil Rights Bill.

Investigation proved that the room was operated by Robert Troutman Jr., an Atlanta attorney, long backed by the Kennedy family; by J. W. "Taxi" Smith, former Mayor of Albany, Ga.; Country Johnson, candidate for Congress from Valdosta, Ga.; and Billy Langdale, in the turpentine business in Valdosta.

Some of this group had come up to West Virginia during the Kennedy-Humphrey primary as Kennedy "observers" to see what was going on. They were also working on Earnest Hollings, the pro-segregationist Governor of South Carolina, to come out for Kennedy.

The "Southern Hospitality" room at the Biltmore seemed well supplied with bourbon and the money to buy it—until those behind it made one mistake. They put up a sign in the lobby of the Biltmore. Whereupon all the lushes who doze on the park benches of Pershing Square sought out "Southern Hospitality."

That was the end. Even southern hospitality of the Kennedy brand was overtaxed. The room was turned over to Governor Hollings of South Carolina.

The first night he occupied it was not restful. Too many lushes pounded on the door demanding more "hospitality." Despite that, Governor Hollings came out for Kennedy as another part of the Kennedy psychological warfare strategy.

Democratic Convention Unaware Of World Crisis

By David Lawrence

LOS ANGELES — National political conventions are incredibly self-centered. There's a crisis going on in the world that could mean war — but you don't get the slightest feeling of awareness of it here. Whether Cuba may start a fire which will spread its damage through Latin America or whether Nikita Khrushchev will follow up his threats against the United States by some untoward act — none of this seems to worry or bother the delegates or even the candidates. Everything is focused on a "bandwagon" — how to swing delegates so that an impression of unanimity behind the nominee will be given as he starts off his campaign with a psychological bang. But one can't help feeling that, if the American people really could understand the artificialities and contrived mechanisms of this or any other convention, they would move to do away with the present system of choosing party nominees and develop something more in keeping with the ideals and the dignity of the United States.

Most of the delegates are not free agents. Many of them are the puppets of the bosses or organization leaders who sent them here. Several are officeholders who have their political futures to safeguard. The leaders who make the trades and deals are usually veteran politicians capable of talking ambiguities in public and succumbing to pressures in private that come from the man who has the "mostest" to offer in the way of political benefits on the local or state or federal level.

The idea of mobilizing for the convention a group of thoughtful, well-informed Americans — the best 1,520 in the party — chosen in the first instance for their knowledge and judgment is not even mentioned. The system is criticized outside but not inside the party except occasionally as delegates take their hair down to one another and admit the current method is seriously defective.

This writer has watched at first hand every campaign since 1912 and has attended every national convention since 1916. So this is the 23rd convention in a row, and it must be confessed that they have changed very little over the years. They are still the same childish spectacles they have always been.

Oddly enough, as one looks back, there has been an international crisis in the background more often than not. In 1916 the first World War was on, and the Democrats at St. Louis were boasting that President Wilson had "kept us out of war." Yet within a few months thereafter America had entered the war.

Resentment against American entry into that war caused the Democrats to lose in 1920. The Republicans campaigned thereafter continuously against America's participation in the League of Nations, and gradually the Democrats came to the same conclusion. Franklin D. Roosevelt, who had been ardently for the league in 1920 as the Democratic candidate for vice president, deserted his friends in that cause in 1932 to get needed support in his effort to win the Democratic presidential nomination at the Chicago convention.

International affairs played a part in the Chicago convention of the Democrats in 1940, when Hitler had already invaded France and even the third-term tradition was waived to make FDR the Democratic nominee in the midst of an era of crisis. He was able for the same reason to win renomination in 1944 for a fourth term.

Again in 1952 international affairs were in the background as the country was eager to have the boys brought home from Korea and a stop applied to the drafting of any more. As recently as 1956, the pressure of international issues was evident, and during the campaign the Suez Crisis helped the Republicans because the country was in no mood to "change horses in midstream."

This convention is disregarding foreign issues and war threats as it turns toward a candidate inexperienced in international affairs, but these questions may be uppermost in the coming campaign. Criticism of the Eisenhower leadership will be voiced in the platform adopted here and in the speeches, but as yet nothing has crystallized on what the Democratic nominee, if elected, would actually do if Nikita Khrushchev keeps up his insults and really interferes in Cuba and Latin America.

Do the Democrats favor going to war? This is the question the Republicans will ask again and again during the campaign. As for convention sentiment, it is far removed even from thinking about the rest of the world and the threats from the Communists. This convention is too self-centered to worry about anything except its own "bandwagon" and the carnival of the hour.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

MAY LOSE POWER — As with other dictatorships, it seems the House Rules Committee has at last over-reached itself and may be nearing the end of its vast veto power over legislation.

Under parliamentary rules of the House of Representatives, approval by the Rules Committee is the only practical way to bring legislation to the floor for action. The committee, which started out as a traffic cop device for the House leadership, however, has become a tool of minority interests, used to block consideration of legislation which certainly would be approved if it could ever be brought to a vote.

In a complicated situation recently, the Rules Committee blocked final House consideration of aid-to-education legislation which already had received a majority vote in both houses of Congress, although on differing bills.

Both Republicans and Democrats on Capitol Hill have been supporting some form of the legislation — considered necessary if members seeking re-election are to face their constituents this autumn without being subjected to embarrassing questions.

The Rules Committee action floored them — and the leadership — and it is now certain that steps will be taken in 1961 when the next session of the Congress convenes, to clip its wings.

Some long-time observers of the Congressional scene were surprised at the bludgeon approach used by the Rules Committee in the matter in question.

Actually, the committee has exercised its great powers sparingly and with considerable tact, for its membership knows that Congress will tolerate use of those powers only so long as they are not abused.

The place I want to visit is Hawaii. There is a lot more to our 50th state than hula girls and Waikiki Beach. It is one of the few places on earth where the moon is so bright that there is sometimes a rainbow at night. In the winter, there is skiing on the slopes of Mauna Kea. It is the only state which continues to grow as volcanic lava edges toward the sea.

I have been reading about it many years and, in the current issue of The National Geographic, Frederick Simpich Jr. writes an intelligent article about Hawaii. His portrait of the typical American businessman on vacation in Hawaii is accurate: "From the airport he taxied to a luxury hotel on Waikiki Beach. When I found him, he was already immovably dug in: a reclining beach chair under him, sunglasses and shorts his only attire, long blue combers before him, pretty girls in bathing suits surrounding him, a shaded terrace behind him whence he could, by raising a finger, summon food or drink."

I wouldn't knock it. However, there is a lot more to see than pretty girls and Diamond Head. The Sears Roebuck store sells orchids from the counter. The apeape plant has leaves that slither across the ground and, when they raise themselves to the sun, are bigger than a man.

The Hawaiian Islands aren't true islands. They are volcano tops, boiling up ten and fifteen thousand feet from the bottom of the Pacific to break the jade surface and continue toward the sky. Mauna Kea measures 33,476 feet from the ocean bottom to snowy summit.

The seven big islands run 400 miles from southeast to northwest. When the Englishman, Captain Cook, discovered them in 1778, all the people were pure Polynesian. Today, the situation has been altered. There are about 600,000 permanent residents. Of these, 32 percent are of Japanese descent; 29 percent are Caucasian; 11 percent Filipino; 6 percent Chinese; 20 percent mixed; only 2 percent pure Hawaiian. What can you expect of a place which has a Chinese restaurant that advertises homemade pizza?

On the average, four out of every ten people on the streets of Hawaii are tourists. They bring big money to the island, and so do the military men based there. There are, of course, other industries.

There are 200,000 acres of sugar cane. The big tractors that pull the stuff to the factory must obey red and green traffic lights at the end of the plantation lanes. In season, six million pineapples are peeled, cored, sliced and thrust like quoits into cans every day.

Boat day isn't as important as it used to be. There was a time when the Royal Hawaiian Band stood at dockside and played the sweet sad strains of Aloha as the big ships edged in loaded with Americans. Today, the air lines, fly 200 and more aircraft in and out of Hawaii each week.

A jet will carry a New Yorker to Honolulu in 12 hours and the traveler will pick up five hours in the process. There is little romance in speed, and the beautiful Lurline and Matsonia sail out of San Francisco for those who like to dream their way to the islands.

At Makaha, on the western side of Hawaii, the waves come in green and 30 feet tall. The beach boys ride them on surfboards. Mr. Simpich went to services in a Hawaiian church and saw a mahogany-colored minister sing "Silent Night," accompanying himself on a guitar. It is a place of lazy contrasts, one of the few spots in the world where department store escalators carry signs warning shoppers not to get their bare feet caught between steps.

At Hilo, where flowers bloom the biggest and brightest, it rains as much as 19 inches a day. Off Kona, sports fishermen comb the dappled swells for giant blue marlin. There is a ranch below the volcano Mauna Kea owned by the Parkers and it measures 250,000 acres. There, Hawaiian cowboys (called Paniolos) herd 33,000 head of cattle. Along the edge of the cliffs, natives watch big fish chase little ones over white sands in 50 feet of clear water.

I'll go to Hawaii someday. The time is not now, but it will come. Meanwhile, just hum a slow chorus of "Sweet Leilani" for me. . .

Weight, Blood Pressure And Cholesterol

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Overweight, high blood pressure, and too much cholesterol in the blood are the modern headless horsemen of death. This triumvirate is the major force behind hardening of the arteries, which leads eventually to heart attacks and stroke. But the picture is not as gloomy as it sounds because there are ways to lower weight, blood pressure, and the cholesterol level.

Heredity is an important aspect of longevity in that some of us inherit better mental and physical fiber than others do. But those who come from long lived ancestors must not abuse their good fortune, whereas men and women with a less favorable family tree should do everything possible to maintain perfect health. After all, we can't get new grandparents and our hereditary cast is molded long before birth.

Diet is important to maintain normal weight. Obesity ought to be avoided at any age. The fat child or teenager becomes the fat adult. The rotund middle-aged man lays the groundwork for the premature development of hardened arteries and his heart is forced to work 30 to 40 per cent harder than if his weight were normal.

The man with an increasing blood pressure should make plans to live and work at a slightly lower pitch. In addition, a dozen or more good remedies are available to keep the pressure at normal levels.

The blood cholesterol can be decreased with a low fat diet plus the addition of agents such as vegetable oils, steroids, niacin, Triparanol, and hormones including thyroid extract.

But the rewards for bringing down the cholesterol level are not as great as those that come from losing weight and decreasing blood pressure. Furthermore, factors other than diet influence blood cholesterol, including exercise, emotions, sex, and inherent characteristics.

Dr. Van Dellen will send leaflet on arteriosclerosis if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

DISTORTED IMAGE

N. W. writes: How does astigmatism affect the eyes?
REPLY
Vision may not be reduced in this condition but the image lacks sharpness in both near and distant vision. The distortion varies with the severity of the condition.

BONE INFECTION

I. S. writes: How does a person get tuberculosis of the bones?
REPLY
From tuberculosis elsewhere in the body, usually the lungs or the gastrointestinal tract. Tuberculosis of the bone is less common since the pasteurization of milk and we know now that the original infection stemmed from tuberculous cattle.

ALTITUDE

G. V. C. writes: Is it safe for a person with coronary insufficiency to vacation in Mexico City?
REPLY
An extremely high altitude is not recommended, altho some victims of angina pectoris have no distress if they take it easy for a few days to adjust to the altitude.

FAT GIRL

M. W. writes: Can a 10 year old girl who is 50 pounds overweight safely use a low calorie reducing diet?
REPLY
Yes, and she should start promptly. But more than a diet is needed. Studies have shown that many obese children eat no more than others but weight gain stems from lack of exercise. The girl you ask about must be encouraged to become a doer rather than a spectator.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of diseases will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Pennsylvania As The King-Maker

Pennsylvania delegations to the Democratic and Republican Presidential nominating conventions usually don't have to jump on the successful candidates' bandwagons — they usually are driving them. This record, combined with 81 delegate votes, is one reason why candidates for this year's Democratic Presidential nomination are treating Gov. David Lawrence like a king-maker.

The Governor so far has refrained from declaring his choice. He reportedly is fearful that Sen. John F. Kennedy's religion might prove a liability in the November election. Lawrence is himself a Catholic. His past record is one of support for Adlai Stevenson.

The 36 votes the Keystone state delegation gave Stevenson on the first ballot at the 1952 convention constituted his greatest support from any delegation other than Illinois. All 70 Pennsylvania votes went to Stevenson on the climactic third ballot that year. In 1956, of 74 Pennsylvania delegate votes 67 were for Stevenson on the first and only Presidential ballot of that convention.

Pennsylvania's 54 votes for Estes Kefauver on the first ballot of the wide-open 1956 Vice Presidential balloting constituted the most votes for Kefauver from any state. Kefauver, it will be recalled, edged Kennedy for the nomination on the second ballot.

No challenge is anticipated to Richard M. Nixon's claim to this year's Republican Presidential nomination, so Pennsylvania's role in the GOP convention will be less pivotal than in the past. Pennsylvania delivered 53 of 72 votes to President Eisenhower on the first ballot of the 1952 proceedings to doom the hopes of Sen. Robert A. Taft. And in 1948 Sen. Edward Martin was able to deliver 41 of the 73 "favorite son" votes to New York Gov. Thomas E. Dewey on the first ballot, paving the way for Dewey's third ballot victory over Taft and Harold Stassen.

These Days

The Sugar Quota

The first effective step, the 1960 Sugar Act, has been taken by Congress against Castro's Cuba. The step is late — surely a year late — but it is now law. Castro is already squealing like a stuck pig.

Despite Castro's intimate relationship with Soviet Russia, Cuba's economy depended upon two main factors—the United States purchase of the Cuban sugar crop at a price that was over two cents above the world price and American tourism. The sugar quota and price were a direct subsidy, this country taking from Cuba a quota which for 1960 amounted to 3,119,655 tons. This was 200,000 tons more than for 1959. How any such increase in the quota could be justified for 1960 is beyond belief.

Actually Cuba supplied more sugar than continental American cane or beet growers. In other words, the United States increased its subsidy to Castro while Castro was seizing American property and conducting an anti-American campaign throughout Latin America.

The passage of the Sugar Act, which is definitely and overtly designed against Castro, is the first salutary step that our government has taken against Castro. The policy of the State Department has been to do nothing about Cuba, lest Soviet Russia take retaliatory steps in Turkey and Iran. It is this negative policy, pursued since the death of John Foster Dulles, which has been so costly in Paris and Tokyo and Havana. It is a policy of response to Russia's initiative.

The Cuban situation gives ample evidence that it is now taking the initiative in Latin America. Fidel Castro has not only established a People's Republic—the first stage of a Communist revolution—but as is usual in such enterprises, Soviet personnel, including Red Chinese, have come to Cuba in large numbers to assist in the establishment of the new administration. Anastas Mikoyan came to Cuba to formalize arrangements and reciprocal visits are being prepared between Khrushchev and Castro.

The State Department failed to meet these events and continued to subsidize the Castro regime through the sugar bounty. True, the quotas are set by Congress but it was the duty of the State Department to call attention to the dangers of the subsidy and to issue a statement to the public which could not be misunderstood.

There is no sugar shortage. Cuba's sugar will not be missed. It is possible that Soviet Russia may come to the aid of Cuba but if Castro cannot get a better deal out of Russia on sugar than he got on oil, it will not be long before the economic pinch in Cuba will be sorely felt.

If Americans assume that such an economic pinch will seriously influence Castro's policies, they are mistaken. Communists are never affected by the sufferings of their people. When Stalin needed heavy machinery, he exported butter so that the Ukrainian peasants had none. The export of butter gave him the foreign exchange he needed to buy the machinery. It will be no different in Cuba. The people will be fed the pabulum of hate-speeches and wild promises for the future which they will believe, because hungry people like to hate. They like to blame someone besides themselves for their misfortunes. They will blame the United States.

On the other hand, to Soviet Russia, Cuba is a pawn on a very wide chessboard. As it stands now, Cuba is a source of great embarrassment to the United States and it will remain such no matter who is elected President. Soviet Russia is playing the Cuban pawn to see what move we will make. Thus far, we have made no move. Shocked by the collapse of the Summit Conference of Paris, by the anti-Eisenhower riots in Tokyo, involved in the confusions of a national election, we have not moved significantly.

Meanwhile, Khrushchev has been having his ideological problems with Red China over the nature of his orthodoxy. The central accusation against Khrushchev by Red China is that Khrushchev is pro-American! By that is meant that he does not believe that war is essential to destroy imperialism. By imperialism is meant American capitalism.

Much can happen during the next year that could leave Cuba without a friend. Even if, perchance, Adlai Stevenson were to be Secretary of State, he could not make a deal with Soviet Russia that would tolerate Russia's advantage in Cuba.

The system is criticized outside but not inside the party except occasionally as delegates take their hair down to one another and admit the current method is seriously defective.

This writer has watched at first hand every campaign since 1912 and has attended every national convention since 1916. So this is the 23rd convention in a row, and it must be confessed that they have changed very little over the years. They are still the same childish spectacles they have always been.

Oddly enough, as one looks back, there has been an international crisis in the background more often than not. In 1916 the first World War was on, and the Democrats at St. Louis were boasting that President Wilson had "kept us out of war." Yet within a few months thereafter America had entered the war.

Resentment against American entry into that war caused the Democrats to lose in 1920. The Republicans campaigned thereafter continuously against America's participation in the League of Nations, and gradually the Democrats came to the same conclusion. Franklin D. Roosevelt, who had been ardently for the league in 1920 as the Democratic candidate for vice president, deserted his friends in that cause in 1932 to get needed support in his effort to win the Democratic presidential nomination at the Chicago convention.

International affairs played a part in the Chicago convention of the Democrats in 1940, when Hitler had already invaded France and even the third-term tradition was waived to make FDR the Democratic nominee in the midst of an era of crisis. He was able for the same reason to win renomination in 1944 for a fourth term.

Again in 1952 international affairs were in the background as the country was eager to have the boys brought home from Korea and a stop applied to the drafting of any more. As recently as 1956, the pressure of international issues was evident, and during the campaign the Suez Crisis helped the Republicans because the country was in no mood to "change horses in midstream."

This convention is disregarding foreign issues and war threats as it turns toward a candidate inexperienced in international affairs, but these questions may be uppermost in the coming campaign. Criticism of the Eisenhower leadership will be voiced in the platform adopted here and in the speeches, but as yet nothing has crystallized on what the Democratic nominee, if elected, would actually do if Nikita Khrushchev keeps up his insults and really interferes in Cuba and Latin America.

Do the Democrats favor going to war? This is the question the Republicans will ask again and again during the campaign. As for convention sentiment, it is far removed even from thinking about the rest of the world and the threats from the Communists. This convention is too self-centered to worry about anything except its own "bandwagon" and the carnival of the hour.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

MAY LOSE POWER — As with other dictatorships, it seems the House Rules Committee has at last over-reached itself and may be nearing the end of its vast veto power over legislation.

Under parliamentary rules of the House of Representatives, approval by the Rules Committee is the only practical way to bring legislation to the floor for action. The committee, which started out as a traffic cop device for the House leadership, however, has become a tool of minority interests, used to block consideration of legislation which certainly would be approved if it could ever be brought to a vote.

In a complicated situation recently, the Rules Committee blocked final House consideration of aid-to-education legislation which already had received a majority vote in both houses of Congress, although on differing bills.

Both Republicans and Democrats on Capitol Hill have been supporting some form of the legislation — considered necessary if members seeking re-election are to face their constituents this autumn without being subjected to embarrassing questions.

The Rules Committee action floored them — and the leadership — and it is now certain that steps will be taken in 1961 when the next session of the Congress convenes, to clip its wings.

Some long-time observers of the Congressional scene were surprised at the bludgeon approach used by the Rules Committee in the matter in question.

Actually, the committee has exercised its great powers sparingly and with considerable tact, for its membership knows that Congress will tolerate use of those powers only so long as they are not abused.

Weight, Blood Pressure And Cholesterol

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Overweight, high blood pressure, and too much cholesterol in the blood are the modern headless horsemen of death. This triumvirate is the major force behind hardening of the arteries, which leads eventually to heart attacks and stroke. But the picture is not as gloomy as it sounds because there are ways to lower weight, blood pressure, and the cholesterol level.

Heredity is an important aspect of longevity in that some of us inherit better mental and physical fiber than others do. But those who come from long lived ancestors must not abuse their good fortune, whereas men and women with a less favorable family tree should do everything possible to maintain perfect health. After all, we can't get new grandparents and our hereditary cast is molded long before birth.

Diet is important to maintain normal weight. Obesity ought to be avoided at any age. The fat child or teenager becomes the fat adult. The rotund middle-aged man lays the groundwork for the premature development of hardened arteries and his heart is forced to work 30 to 40 per cent harder than if his weight were normal.

The man with an increasing blood pressure should make plans to live and work at a slightly lower pitch. In addition, a dozen or more good remedies are available to keep the pressure at normal levels.

The blood cholesterol can be decreased with a low fat diet plus the addition of agents such as vegetable oils, steroids, niacin, Triparanol, and hormones including thyroid extract.

But the rewards for bringing down the cholesterol level are not as great as those that come from losing weight and decreasing blood pressure. Furthermore, factors other than diet influence blood cholesterol, including exercise, emotions, sex, and inherent characteristics.

Dr. Van Dellen will send leaflet on arteriosclerosis if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

DISTORTED IMAGE

N. W. writes: How does astigmatism affect the eyes?

REPLY

Vision may not be reduced in this condition but the image lacks sharpness in both near and distant vision. The distortion varies with the severity of the condition.

BONE INFECTION

I. S. writes: How does a person get tuberculosis of the bones?

REPLY

From tuberculosis elsewhere in the body, usually the lungs or the gastrointestinal tract. Tuberculosis of the bone is less common since the pasteurization of milk and we know now that the original infection stemmed from tuberculous cattle.

ALTITUDE

G. V. C. writes: Is it safe for a person with coronary insufficiency to vacation in Mexico City?

REPLY

An extremely high altitude is not recommended, altho some victims of angina pectoris have no distress if they take it easy for a few days to adjust to the altitude.

FAT GIRL

M. W. writes: Can a 10 year old girl who is 50 pounds overweight safely use a low calorie reducing diet?

REPLY

Yes, and she should start promptly. But more than a diet is needed. Studies have shown that many obese children eat no more than others but weight gain stems from lack of exercise. The girl you ask about must be encouraged to become a doer rather than a spectator.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of diseases will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

"It's a fine how-de-do," mourned a garment manufacturer. "Here I'm ready to pay top wages for a private secretary, and I can't find anybody who'll take the job." "Calm yourself," soothed a friend. "I've got just the girl for you — a real beauty, too. I'll send her in tomorrow."

The next evening it was an aggrieved garmenteer who phoned his friend. "A fine private secretary you sent me," he jeered. "She can't even wrap a bundle or handle a mop!"

A beggar had such a sad tale to unfold, that the grocer broke down and gave him a bag full of the best victuals. The beggar eyed it askance and then demanded petulantly, "Well? Where are my tradin' stamps?"

Herman Levin, producer of "My Fair Lady," attempted a daring experiment this spring. He crossed a racehorse with a giraffe. The foal can't run very fast, but he's unbeatable in a neck-to-neck finish.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

The place I want to visit is Hawaii. There is a lot more to our 50th state than hula girls and Waikiki Beach. It is one of the few places on earth where the moon is so bright that there is sometimes a rainbow at night. In the winter, there is skiing on the slopes of Mauna Kea. It is the only state which continues to grow as volcanic lava edges toward the sea.

I have been reading about it many years and, in the current issue of The National Geographic, Frederick Simpich Jr. writes an intelligent article about Hawaii. His portrait of the typical American businessman on vacation in Hawaii is accurate: "From the airport he taxied to a luxury hotel on Waikiki Beach. When I found him, he was already immovably dug in: a reclining beach chair under him, sunglasses and shorts his only attire, long blue combers before him, pretty girls in bathing suits surrounding him, a shaded terrace behind him whence he could, by raising a finger, summon food or drink."

I wouldn't knock it. However, there is a lot more to see than pretty girls and Diamond Head. The Sears Roebuck store sells orchids from the counter. The apeape plant has leaves that slither across the ground and, when they raise themselves to the sun, are bigger than a man.

The Hawaiian Islands aren't true islands. They are volcano tops, boiling up ten and fifteen thousand feet from the bottom of the Pacific to break the jade surface and continue toward the sky. Mauna Kea measures 33,476 feet from the ocean bottom to snowy summit.

The seven big islands run 400 miles from southeast to northwest. When the Englishman, Captain Cook, discovered them in 1778, all the people were pure Polynesian. Today, the situation has been altered. There are about 600,000 permanent residents. Of these, 32 percent are of Japanese descent; 29 percent are Caucasian; 11 percent Filipino; 6 percent Chinese; 20 percent mixed; only 2 percent pure Hawaiian. What can you expect of a place which has a Chinese restaurant that advertises homemade pizza?

On the average, four out of every ten people on the streets of Hawaii are tourists. They bring big money to the island, and so do the military men based there. There are, of course, other industries.

There are 200,000 acres of sugar cane. The big tractors that pull the stuff to the factory must obey red and green traffic lights at the end of the plantation lanes. In season, six million pineapples are peeled, cored, sliced and thrust like quoits into cans every day.

Boat day isn't as important as it used to be. There was a time when the Royal Hawaiian Band stood at dockside and played the sweet sad strains of Aloha as the big ships edged in loaded with Americans. Today, the air lines, fly 200 and more aircraft in and out of Hawaii each week.

A jet will carry a New Yorker to Honolulu in 12 hours and the traveler will pick up five hours in the process. There is little romance in speed, and the beautiful Lurline and Matsonia sail out of San Francisco for those who like to dream their way to the islands.

At Makaha, on the western side of Hawaii, the waves come in green and 30 feet tall. The beach boys ride them on surfboards. Mr. Simpich went to services in a Hawaiian church and saw a mahogany-colored minister sing "Silent Night," accompanying himself on a guitar. It is a place of lazy contrasts, one of the few spots in the world where department store escalators carry signs warning shoppers not to get their bare feet caught between steps.

At Hilo, where flowers bloom the biggest and brightest, it rains as much as 19 inches a day. Off Kona, sports fishermen comb the dappled swells for giant blue marlin. There is a ranch below the volcano Mauna Kea owned by the Parkers and it measures 250,000 acres. There, Hawaiian cowboys (called Paniolos) herd 33,000 head of cattle. Along the edge of the cliffs, natives watch big fish chase little ones over white sands in 50 feet of clear water.

I'll go to Hawaii someday. The time is not now, but it will come. Meanwhile, just hum a slow chorus of "Sweet Leilani" for me. . .

Petersburg Is Planning Celebration

PETERSBURG—The Town of Petersburg will officially celebrate its sesqui-centennial Saturday.

Several events are planned, including the annual firemen's carnival and free soft drinks for persons visiting the town.

The town observed its golden anniversary last Saturday, exactly 50 years from the date of its incorporation.

Shortly thereafter numerous improvements were planned and within a short time the present water system was begun. This is one of the few municipally-owned plants in West Virginia that has continued to grow with the town, and now serves not only the community itself but some areas out side the limits of the corporation.

SCIENTISTS RACE WATER

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — University of Texas anthropologists are racing against reservoir construction crews to salvage chapters in the story of Texas Indians before they can be erased by water.

The anthropologists are conducting their studies in areas along the Rio Grande that are soon to be turned into reservoirs by new dams. Project director Dr. Thomas N. Campbell says that because of the heavy schedule of new dam construction, river basin salvage in Texas for Indian artifacts will be a continuous project for a decade.

Second Major League All-Star Game To Attract 45,000

Law And Ford Are Starters In New York

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP)—Vern Law of the league-leading Pittsburgh Pirates and Whitey Ford of the first-place New York Yankees are the probable starting pitchers in Wednesday's 29th All-Star baseball game.

Although the expected New York temperature will be 82, or about 20 degrees cooler than the Kansas City oven where the Nationals scored a 5-3 victory Monday, it still will be hot and humid.

Yankee officials forecast a crowd of about 45,000 for the first All-Star game in Yankee Stadium since 1939.

Gate receipts and the $250,000 radio-TV cash goes into a special fund out of which the player pension plan is supported.

Pirates Blanked A. L.

Manager Walter Alston of the Nationals could not be faulted for going to the Pittsburgh staff again after the success of Bob Friend, Elroy Face and right-handed Law (11-4 this season) in the first game. The three Pirates didn't allow a run and gave up only one hit in 5 1-3 innings.

After the first three innings Wednesday, Alston is expected to turn to Larry Jackson of St. Louis (10-8) and possibly Stan Williams (8-2) of his own Los Angeles staff to finish up. He also has Lindy McDaniel of St. Louis (5-3) and Bill Henry of Cincinnati (1-4) for relief work plus those who pitched Monday.

Wynn May Be Second

Ford probably will be followed by Early Wynn (4-7), 40-year-old Chicago right-hander, and Dick Stigman (4-4), Cleveland lefty. Lopez used all the others on his 10-man staff Monday except his own relief ace, Gerry Staley. However, that was changed later. All are eligible for both games.

Lopez said Ronnie Hansen, Baltimore's rookie shortstop, and Pete Runnels, Boston second baseman, both were ill Monday from the effects of the Kansas City heat. However, he said both would play Wednesday.

The starting lineups will remain the same under the rules of the game. The starters, except pitchers, must play at least the first three innings. A pitcher may not pitch more than three innings.

Lopez said he had not seen Vic Power, Cleveland first baseman, since the game. Power was the only man on the squad, except for four pitchers, who did not play in the opener. Lopez said Power had reported sick and left the bench without permission during the game and was not available when Lopez wanted him to replace first baseman Bill Skowron in the sixth inning.

Did Power Run Out?

Jim Enright in Chicago's American Tuesday quoted an unnamed Cleveland radio announcer as saying Power ran out on the game to win a $100 bet with him that Lopez wouldn't use the Indians' first baseman.

The All-Star series now stands 16 for the American and 12 for the National.

Utah Pro Grabs Lead In French Open Golf

Bill Johnston's 136 At Halfway Mark Is Edge Of One Stroke

PARIS (UPI)—Bill Johnston, a 35-year-old American pro so little known in international tournaments that his name is constantly being misspelled, grabbed a one-stroke lead Tuesday at the halfway mark in the French Open golf championship with a 136 total.

"For me, that's pretty good," said Johnston, of the Tinpanogos Golf Club, Provo, Utah. "Maybe they'll remember to put the 'T' in my name if I keep it up."

Posts 8-Under-Par 136

Johnston scored his 8-under-par 136 over the first 36 holes of a 72-hole tournament which began Tuesday at the St. Cloud Golf Course on the western outskirts of Paris and will be concluded Wednesday.

The United States, though it entered 14 players, would hardly have been in the picture at the end of Tuesday's qualifying round if it were not for the lean and sunburned Johnston.

America's current top star, Arnold Palmer, was not permitted to take part because he did not register 10 days in advance. Palmer learned he was barred when he flew to Paris Monday after placing second in the British Open.

He took a plane for the United States the same day—reportedly in high dudgeon.

Australia's Kel Nagle, who won the British Open and was entered into the French Open, went home to have his arthritic right hand treated, leaving Australia's Peter Thomson and Britain's Bernard Hunt the top favorites.

Thomson and Hunt qualified easily, but it was the dark horse from Utah who scored 66 in the first 18 holes and 70 in the second 18 in a display of skill.

Chapman Cards 144

Johnston ended up eight strokes ahead of the next best American —Dick Chapman, of Palm Beach, Fla., former U.S. and British amateur champion who turned in 73 and 71 for a day's score of 144.

There were a dozen players from other countries ahead of Chapman, however. And with only the 50 low scoring players to qualify for Wednesday's round, it was uncertain how many of the American entries would survive.

The Merchants have won 11 of 14 games played to date and will be opening the second half of their 28-game schedule.

Hyndman won the first game of this series on June 12 by the score of 6-3 when Vohn Lehman gained the decision over Glen Deremer.

Mt. Savage beaten Barrelville, 13-11 and Moorefield, 7-5, in its last two outings and is playing .500 ball with an 8-8 record. Salisbury has won five and lost 11. Manager Ronnie Sisk's Old Germans hold 4-3 and 5-2 decisions over the Pennsylvanians.

Frostburg holds a 5-0 decision over Flintstone but lost the other game to the Farmers via the forfeit route when unable to field a team.

Joe Langan's Merchants are 6-9 to date while the Farmers, beaten in their last six outings, have an overall mark of 2-14.

Barrelville, the runner-up in the pennant race with 12 wins and 4 losses, and Moorefield in the third place with 10-6 are idle today.

Colts Trade Sanford To Dallas Cowboys

Sanford was out of action all last season because of a knee injury. Before hurting the leg in 1958, he had played in 89 consecutive National Football League games.

Sanford, now 31 years old, was drafted by the Chicago Cardinals after graduation from Louisiana Tech. He was traded to the Colts in 1958.

Roberts Resigns As National Loop Player Representative

NEW YORK (AP)—Robin Roberts of the Philadelphia Phils resigned Tuesday as the National League's player representative and pension committee.

He had served for seven years.

"I felt I had held the positions long enough," the veteran Philadelphia pitcher said.

The National League representatives elected Bob Friend of the Pittsburgh Pirates as their spokesman and Richie Ashburn of the Chicago Cubs as their pension committee member to replace Roberts.

American Loop Plans To Open April 11, 1961

Will Match Early Opening Of N.L.

NEW YORK (UPI) — American League club owners announced Tuesday that next season they will match the National League's early season-opening and start play April 11.

The N. L. got the jump on the American this season by starting play on April 12. The A. L. did not open until April 18. As a result, the National League attracted most of the early-season press radio and TV publicity.

President Joe Cronin said the 1961 league schedule would end Oct. 1, about the same time as usual.

It was also announced that for the first time, the American League will begin play with "intersectional" games, that is, with eastern clubs playing western teams and vice versa. Heretofore, both leagues have opened with games between clubs from the same section of the circuit.

In another schedule decision, the A. L. owners agreed to maintain a balance between the Sunday and holiday games which each team plays in another city. For example, if the Red Sox played two Sunday dates in Detroit, the schedule would be balanced so that the Tigers played two Sunday dates in Boston.

Jersey City Group Rules Out Nickname "Reds" For Its Team

JERSEY CITY, N. J. (UPI) — The City Commission Tuesday ratified the leasing of Roosevelt Stadium to the International League team being transferred from Havana to Jersey City.

But the commissioners refused to go along with the nickname "Jersey Reds" which had been chosen for the new team at a meeting Monday between league and city officials.

The commissioners said the name "Reds" had Communist connotations. They recommended the nickname "Jerseys" as an alternate team name.

The team, which played the Marlins in Miami Tuesday night under their old name — the Havana Sugar Kings of Cuba — will stage its first Jersey home game at the 25,000-seat Roosevelt Stadium Friday night.

Second Major League All-Star Game To Attract 45,000

Law And Ford Are Starters In New York

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP)—Vern Law of the league-leading Pittsburgh Pirates and Whitey Ford of the first-place New York Yankees are the probable starting pitchers in Wednesday's 29th All-Star baseball game.

Although the expected New York temperature will be 82, or about 20 degrees cooler than the Kansas City oven where the Nationals scored a 5-3 victory Monday, it still will be hot and humid.

Yankee officials forecast a crowd of about 45,000 for the first All-Star game in Yankee Stadium since 1939.

Gate receipts and the $250,000 radio-TV cash goes into a special fund out of which the player pension plan is supported.

Pirates Blanked A. L.

Manager Walter Alston of the Nationals could not be faulted for going to the Pittsburgh staff again after the success of Bob Friend, Elroy Face and right-handed Law (11-4 this season) in the first game. The three Pirates didn't allow a run and gave up only one hit in 5 1-3 innings.

After the first three innings Wednesday, Alston is expected to turn to Larry Jackson of St. Louis (10-8) and possibly Stan Williams (8-2) of his own Los Angeles staff to finish up. He also has Lindy McDaniel of St. Louis (5-3) and Bill Henry of Cincinnati (1-4) for relief work plus those who pitched Monday.

Wynn May Be Second

Ford probably will be followed by Early Wynn (4-7), 40-year-old Chicago right-hander, and Dick Stigman (4-4), Cleveland lefty. Lopez used all the others on his 10-man staff Monday except his own relief ace, Gerry Staley. However, that was changed later. All are eligible for both games.

Lopez said Ronnie Hansen, Baltimore's rookie shortstop, and Pete Runnels, Boston second baseman, both were ill Monday from the effects of the Kansas City heat. However, he said both would play Wednesday.

The starting lineups will remain the same under the rules of the game. The starters, except pitchers, must play at least the first three innings. A pitcher may not pitch more than three innings.

Lopez said he had not seen Vic Power, Cleveland first baseman, since the game. Power was the only man on the squad, except for four pitchers, who did not play in the opener. Lopez said Power had reported sick and left the bench without permission during the game and was not available when Lopez wanted him to replace first baseman Bill Skowron in the sixth inning.

Did Power Run Out?

Jim Enright in Chicago's American Tuesday quoted an unnamed Cleveland radio announcer as saying Power ran out on the game to win a $100 bet with him that Lopez wouldn't use the Indians' first baseman.

The All-Star series now stands 16 for the American and 12 for the National.

Bill Johnston's 136 At Halfway Mark Is Edge Of One Stroke

PARIS (UPI)—Bill Johnston, a 35-year-old American pro so little known in international tournaments that his name is constantly being misspelled, grabbed a one-stroke lead Tuesday at the halfway mark in the French Open golf championship with a 136 total.

"For me, that's pretty good," said Johnston, of the Tinpanogos Golf Club, Provo, Utah. "Maybe they'll remember to put the 'T' in my name if I keep it up."

Posts 8-Under-Par 136

Johnston scored his 8-under-par 136 over the first 36 holes of a 72-hole tournament which began Tuesday at the St. Cloud Golf Course on the western outskirts of Paris and will be concluded Wednesday.

The United States, though it entered 14 players, would hardly have been in the picture at the end of Tuesday's qualifying round if it were not for the lean and sunburned Johnston.

America's current top star, Arnold Palmer, was not permitted to take part because he did not register 10 days in advance. Palmer learned he was barred when he flew to Paris Monday after placing second in the British Open.

He took a plane for the United States the same day—reportedly in high dudgeon.

Australia's Kel Nagle, who won the British Open and was entered into the French Open, went home to have his arthritic right hand treated, leaving Australia's Peter Thomson and Britain's Bernard Hunt the top favorites.

Thomson and Hunt qualified easily, but it was the dark horse from Utah who scored 66 in the first 18 holes and 70 in the second 18 in a display of skill.

Chapman Cards 144

Johnston ended up eight strokes ahead of the next best American—Dick Chapman, of Palm Beach, Fla., former U.S. and British amateur champion who turned in 73 and 71 for a day's score of 144.

There were a dozen players from other countries ahead of Chapman, however. And with only the 50 low scoring players to qualify for Wednesday's round, it was uncertain how many of the American entries would survive.

Lindsay To Retire As Hockey Player

CHICAGO (UPI)—Ted Lindsay, a 16-year veteran of the National Hockey League, told the Chicago Black Hawks Tuesday that he is retiring from the game.

Lindsay's resignation was announced by Johnny Gottselig, the Black Hawks' press relations director, who said the scrappy wing had decided to hang up his hockey stick for good and remain in Birmingham, Mich., where he works as a manufacturer's agent.

Lindsay, who will be 35 later this month, earned a reputation as one of the scrappiest players in NHL history.

American Loop Plans To Open April 11, 1961

Will Match Early Opening Of N.L.

NEW YORK (UPI) — American League club owners announced Tuesday that next season they will match the National League's early season-opening and start play April 11.

The N. L. got the jump on the American this season by starting play on April 12. The A. L. did not open until April 18. As a result, the National League attracted most of the early-season press radio and TV publicity.

President Joe Cronin said the 1961 league schedule would end Oct. 1, about the same time as usual.

It was also announced that for the first time, the American League will begin play with "intersectional" games, that is, with eastern clubs playing western teams and vice versa. Heretofore, both leagues have opened with games between clubs from the same section of the circuit.

In another schedule decision, the A. L. owners agreed to maintain a balance between the Sunday and holiday games which each team plays in another city. For example, if the Red Sox played two Sunday dates in Detroit, the schedule would be balanced so that the Tigers played two Sunday dates in Boston.

Jersey City Group Rules Out Nickname "Reds" For Its Team

JERSEY CITY, N. J. (UPI) — The City Commission Tuesday ratified the leasing of Roosevelt Stadium to the International League team being transferred from Havana to Jersey City.

But the commissioners refused to go along with the nickname "Jersey Reds" which had been chosen for the new team at a meeting Monday between league and city officials.

The commissioners said the name "Reds" had Communist connotations. They recommended the nickname "Jerseys" as an alternate team name.

The team, which played the Marlins in Miami Tuesday night under their old name — the Havana Sugar Kings of Cuba — will stage its first Jersey home game at the 25,000-seat Roosevelt Stadium Friday night.

Elks Upset Lions, 5-2; Beat Shobe

Rotary Club Tops B'nai B'rith, 6-5

Manager Joe Chorpenning's B. P. O. Elks continued to hand out surprise packages in the Hot Stove Baseball League when they trimmed the Lions Club yesterday at Mason Road Field by the score of 5-2 behind the six-hit twirling of Ronnie McFarland.

McFarland walked in a run to give the Lions a 1-0 lead in the first inning but a four-run explosion in the third put the game on ice for the B.P.O. E team which broke a last place tie with the Outdoor Club by bagging its third win of the season.

The loss was the third straight for the former league leaders who had bagged eight consecutive games before their current slump.

Two of the Elks' three wins have been at the expense of the top teams. They recently jolted the Cumberland Optimists, now the league leaders, by the score of 11-2.

Pat Chorpenning socked a homer and double and batted in two runs and Dave Price smacked a two-bagger in yesterday's game. Price, Bowman and Foley excelled in the outfield. Harper tripled and "Rocky" Klosterman collected two singles for the Lions while Wagner played a bangup game at short.

Lonnie Jackson's Rotary Club tossers defeated B'nai B'rith for the third time this season by scoring a 6-5 victory last night at Penn Avenue Field.

John Roy was credited with the win and Vinnie DelaGrange was tagged with the loss, Roy and Garry Elliott, who came on in the sixth, were given excellent support by Greg Skidmore, Rick Merrill and Bobby Reed. Perkins and Seibert had two hits each for B'nai B'rith.

Sugar Is Flattened With Right To Chin

By JACK CUDDY

Paret, who had won the 147-pound crown from Don Jordan at Las Vegas, Nev., on May 27, weighed 152¾ pounds Tuesday night. Hart scaled 153¾.

Paret, favored at 13-5, forced the fighting in every round with a pressing, close-quarter attack, but the Philadelphian provided good opposition, particularly in the third round when he rocked the rugged champion with a right to the head.

At the knockout, Hart gamely tried to rise in time to continue the fight and he finally regained his feet just a split second after referee Mark Conn had counted "ten."

It was the first non-televised fight at the Garden in exactly nine years. Not since the night of July 12, 1951, when Rocky Marciano beat Rex Layne had there been a Garden fight without video. The crowd Tuesday night was estimated at 4,500.

All three ring officials had Paret ahead going into the sixth round. Referee Conn had it 4-1. Judge Joe Eppy agreed, 4-1, and Judge Joe Agnello had it 3-2. The United Press International favored the champion, 3-1-1.

Needed Extra Money

A player who goes all the way by the book—20 years in the majors and retirement at 65—can collect $550 per month under the present plan. The minimum is $88 per month for a five-year veteran who wants to retire at 50.

The plan was set up on the basis of one All Star game a year but in 1957 some increased benefits were voted in and the players needed a little extra loot so a second All Star game was requested to ease the load.

Under that 1957 revision, benefits were upped 75 per cent and the players also voted the increases should go to older players who had gone out of the majors between 1947-1957.

Proposed By Roberts

That left some $10 million in back premiums to be paid off to take care of the older group. Hence a second All Star game, proposed by Robin Roberts of the Phillies, was voted in and the players then voted 461-0 to devote their share of that one to paying those back premiums.

It'll take from eight to 10 years of two games per year to pay off the back debt.

The pension fund now receives 60 per cent of a $4 million a year radio - television contract for the World Series and one All - Star game, plus 60 per cent of the radio-TV revenue for the second All Star game any year it is played.

How long there'll be two such games is anybody's guess. As customers want it—and radio-TV wants it—chances are there'll be two.

As one official said, "the players have taken on a big load and we're not going to try to stop them."

DARLINGTON, S.C. (UPI) — The 11th Southern 500-mile stock car race on Labor Day will have a total purse of at least $90,465, the Darlington International Raceway announced Tuesday.

This will mark the 10th straight year the holiday feature, the nation's oldest and largest 500-mile stock car race, has had a purse increase.

Stevenson Leads Publinx Tourney

Stevenson, who will be a junior at Long Beach junior college in the fall, posted a one-over-par 35-37-72 to bring his 36-hole total to 146.

Tied for second at 148 were Jack Omuro of Honolulu, an airlines maintenance man, and Tom Dixon, from Daly City, Calif.

The 64 low scorers today will qualify for match play opening Wedesday. The tournament started with a field of 150 Monday.

Stubby Overmire, former southpaw pitcher, is managing the Durham Bulls in the Class B Carolina League. His American League record was 58-67.

SAME TEAM, NEW TOWN — Tony Canstano, manager of the Havana Sugar Kings of the International League, looks thoughtful as he contemplates the switch of the club's franchise to Jersey City due to political unrest in the Cuban capital.

Caseys Edge Celanese In Tenth, 5-4

Moose, Vets Win, Stay Tied For Lead

The Knights of Columbus edged the Celanese A.A., in 10 innings at Fort Hill Field, 5-4, the Loyal Order of Moose handed the Elks their fifth straight loss at Post Field, 6-2, and the V.F.W. downed Pittsburgh Plate Glass by the same score at Stitcher Field in Rocking Chair Softball League games played yesterday.

V.F.W. and the Moose remained deadlocked for first place with 12-4 records.

Vince King's double, Jim Angellatta's bunt single and an outfielder's error on Bob Mattingly's fly gave the Caseys their winning run in a battle that lasted three extra innings.

Singles by Miller and Collins, coupled with three walks and a sacrifice gave the Knights two runs and tied the score at 4-all in the 7th frame.

King and Mattingly and Mickey Cunningham and Ray Silvious of Celanese collected two hits each. The win was the third in a row for the K. of C., and gave Russ Miller a 4-5 mark.

"Shorty" Long hurled the Moose to victory, scattering six hits. Johnny Price accounted for three of the winners' 12 hits. Roeder had two of the Elks' safeties and Manges rapped a triple.

George McGregor homered, Cecil Grimes doubled and singled and "Pete" Elliott had a pair of singles for the V.F.W. whose infield executed four double plays. Bill Kirk, Bill Thompson and Kreiger collected two hits each for P.P.G. while Clay Ingram starred at short for the losers.

Elks Upset Lions, 5-2; Beat Shobe

Rotary Club Tops B'nai B'rith, 6-5

Manager Joe Chorpenning's B. P. O. Elks continued to hand out surprise packages in the Hot Stove Baseball League when they trimmed the Lions Club yesterday at Mason Road Field by the score of 5-2 behind the six-hit twirling of Ronnie McFarland.

McFarland walked in a run to give the Lions a 1-0 lead in the first inning but a four-run explosion in the third put the game on ice for the B.P.O. E team which broke a last place tie with the Outdoor Club by bagging its third win of the season.

The loss was the third straight for the former league leaders who had bagged eight consecutive games before their current slump.

Ronnie Shobe, the league's top pitcher who had won seven and lost none, suffered his first defeat yesterday although he struck out eleven.

Two of the Elks' three wins have been at the expense of the top teams. They recently jolted the Cumberland Optimists, now the league leaders, by the score of 11-2.

Pat Chorpenning socked a homer and double and batted in two runs and Dave Price smacked a two-bagger in yesterday's game. Price, Bowman and Foley excelled in the outfield. Harper tripled and "Rocky" Klosterman collected two singles for the Lions while Wagner played a bangup game at short.

McFarland fanned five and issued two passes.

Lonnie Jackson's Rotary Club tossers defeated B'nai B'rith for the third time this season by scoring a 6-5 victory last night at Penn Avenue Field.

John Roy was credited with the win and Vinnie DelaGrange was tagged with the loss, Roy and Garry Elliott, who came on in the sixth, were given excellent support by Greg Skidmore, Rick Merrill and Bobby Reed. Perkins and Seibert had two hits each for B'nai B'rith.

The scores:

AT MASON ROAD FIELD:

Baltimorean Scores In Trans-Mississippi

CINCINNATI (AP) — The medalist, the last two runners-up and one of the Curtis Cuppers were knocked out of the running Tuesday in upsets in the first round of match play of the 30th annual Women's Trans-Mississippi Golf Tournament.

Defending champion Mrs. Ann Casey Johnstone of Mason City, Iowa, and Mary Ann Downey, Baltimore, Md., the 1951 champion, moved into the second round, however.

Mrs. Bert Craig, 31, of Cincinnati eliminated Carol Mann of Flossmoor, Ill., after the 19-year-old Miss had won the qualifying medal with a 4-under-par 70.

Mrs. Craig won 4 and 2.

Mrs. Burt Weil, 56, of Cincinnati, oldest contestant in the championship flight, dumped 24-year-old Judy Bell of Wichita, Kan., a member of the 1960 Curtis Cup team.

Mrs. Weil came from a one hole deficit at nine to win 3 and 2. Judy bogied three holes on the back nine.

This one coming up at Yankee Stadium is the "players' game"—the one they asked for and received over the objections of many baseball men who believed a second game would detract seriously from a fine old (1934) midsummer tradition.

Needed Extra Money

A player who goes all the way by the book—20 years in the majors and retirement at 65—can collect $550 per month under the present plan. The minimum is $88 per month for a five-year veteran who wants to retire at 50.

The plan was set up on the basis of one All Star game a year but in 1957 some increased benefits were voted in and the players needed a little extra loot so a second All Star game was requested to ease the load.

Under that 1957 revision, benefits were upped 75 per cent and the players also voted the increases should go to older players who had gone out of the majors between 1947-1957.

Proposed By Roberts

That left some $10 million in back premiums to be paid off to take care of the older group. Hence a second All Star game, proposed by Robin Roberts of the Phillies, was voted in and the players then voted 461-0 to devote their share of that one to paying those back premiums.

It'll take from eight to 10 years of two games per year to pay off the back debt.

The pension fund now receives 60 per cent of a $4 million a year radio - television contract for the World Series and one All - Star game, plus 60 per cent of the radio-TV revenue for the second All Star game any year it is played.

How long there'll be two such games is anybody's guess. As customers want it—and radio-TV wants it—chances are there'll be two.

As one official said, "the players have taken on a big load and we're not going to try to stop them."

Kelley Cops State Open Golf Title

Manor Club Assistant Leads Field With 140

NORBECK, Md. (AP) — Lloyd Kelley, assistant pro at the host Manor Country Club, staged a rousing finish Tuesday to win the 40th Maryland Open Golf Championship with a 72-68—140.

Walter Romans, the defending champion from Baltimore Country Club, finished second with 70-71—141 over the 6,475-yard par 70 course.

Kelley and Romans were in the same threesome in one of the last groups to finish. Kelley holed a 25-foot birdie putt on the 17th hole to catch Romans and then birdied the 18th with an 8-footer to win the title.

Clare Emery, the Washington Golf and Country Club pro and first-round leader with a 69, slipped to a 74 for 143 to tie Bill Brownrigg, the Manor Club champion, for fourth.

Brownrigg, as low amateur, received the $2,000 Harry G. Pitts Trophy to hold for one year. Pitts, who died recently, was one of Washington's all-time amateur golf greats and a member of Manor Club.

Jimmie Clark, assistant pro at Washington Golf and Country Club, shot a 70-74 — 144 to tie for the next spot with two amateurs, Sgt. Harold Ridgley, current State amateur champion from Andrews Air Force Base, and Carl Lohran of Brooke Manor Club.

Kelley won $350 and the State Open Trophy while Romans received $225 as runnerup.

Grand Slam Sinks Cresaptown, 6-2

Melvin Ziler's grand slam home run with two out and the score knotted at 2-2 in the bottom of the seventh inning enabled the Frostburg Mounties to defeat Cresaptown yesterday in a Bi-State Pony Baseball League game at Frostburg by the score of 6-2.

The win was registered by John Dinning who limited Cresaptown to five hits and whiffed a total of 15.

Ziler got a single in addition to his homer while Jim Broadwater collected two doubles and a single and "Chuck" Gray had three singles to his credit. John Hancock had a triple and double for the losers.

Westernport downed Corriganville at Westernport by the score of 10-6 in a game marked by 20 hits.

Dapper Yankees Jolt Phils, 9-8, On Lueck's Hit

Gary Lueck's two-run single in the bottom of the 6th and final inning enabled Manager F. Puffenberger's Yankees to eke out a 9-8 decision over the Phillies yesterday at Penn Avenue Field and thus prevented the Phillies from tying the Cardinals for first place in the Dapper Division of the Dapper Dan Little League.

The Phils spotted the Yankees seven runs in the second frame and came back to grab an 8-7 lead going into the last of the 6th stanza.

John Twigg, the third Yankee pitcher to see service, received credit for the win. The loss went to Terry Deremer who replaced McGeady in the second inning.

The Phillies outhit the Yankees, 11 to 6, with Steve Walters heading the assult with three hits while Sandhoff and Simpson had two safeties each. Lueck and Hamilton shared four of the Yankees' six safeties. Richard and Ernie Elliott of the Yankees and Walter of the Phillies starred afield.

The loss dropped the Phillies (5-3) one game back of the pace-setting Cardinals (6-2). Score:

Sugar Is Flattened With Right To Chin

By JACK CUDDY

NEW YORK (UPI)—In his first fight as welterweight champion, Benny Kid Paret of Cuba Tuesday night smashed Garnet (Sugar) Hart of Philadelphia to the canvas with a right to the chin for a knockout at 2:36 of the sixth round of their non-title bout at Madison Square Garden.

Paret, who had won the 147-pound crown from Don Jordan at Las Vegas, Nev., on May 27, weighed 152¾ pounds Tuesday night. Hart scaled 153¾.

Paret, favored at 13-5, forced the fighting in every round with a pressing, close - quarter attack, but the Philadelphian provided good opposition, particularly in the third round when he rocked the rugged champion with a right to the head.

At the knockout, Hart gamely tried to rise in time to continue the fight and he finally regained his feet just a split second after referee Mark Conn had counted "ten."

It was the first non - televised fight at the Garden in exactly nine years. Not since the night of July 12, 1951, when Rocky Marciano beat Rex Layne had there been a Garden fight without video. The crowd Tuesday night was estimated at 4,500.

All three ring officials had Paret ahead going into the sixth round. Referee Conn had it 4-1, Judge Joe Eppy agreed, 4-1, and Judge Joe Agnello had it 3-2. The United Press International favored the champion, 3-1-1.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD — Sixty - four years ago Charles Sheldon's religious novel "In His Steps" was a best seller. Since that time over 30 million copies have been sold throughout the world, making this one of the most widely read novels of all time.

I have just been told that a young man whom I have not met, named Wilbur Stark, now plans to make a motion picture of Sheldon's novel. It's the story of a group of modern day Americans who pledge themselves to live according to the concepts of Biblical teachings, for a year.

Stark will take eight characters and depict what happens to them as they attempt to keep their pledge. I was curious about Stark, and when I asked about him, was told he has headquarters on the MGM lot and is a producer of radio and television shows.

Veteran actor Donald Crisp says he couldn't be more delighted that he's going to visit his birthplace Scotland when he goes to Edinburgh for "Greyfriars Bobby," Walt Disney's movie. This is Crisp's 418th motion picture and he says, "I am very happy at this opportunity to visit [illegible] homeland again, and to do a story I have loved since boyhood."

He'll play Mr. Brown, keeper of the Greyfriars churchyard, where Skye Terrier, whose enduring love for his dead master, kept watch at the old man's grave for nearly fourteen years. Donald leaves for New York July 19th, and sails on the SS America for Scotland July 22nd.

I think Mark Damon is one of the most attractive of the young actors. I have seen him several times with Joan Benny Rudolph (Jack's daughter), and he always gives me news about his career. He was very good in "House of Usher" with Vincent Price — so good that James Nicholson and Sam Arkoff signed him before they left for their trip around the world.

Mark was offered the role of Stephan in "The Wall," the Kermit Bloomgarten Broadway play, but he's decided to stick with Nicholson and Arkoff, and will have a role in Jules Verne's "Master of the World," again with Vincent Price. It starts September 7th.

Seems strange to think that it was while Joan Plowright was playing the role of a 93 year old woman in "The Chairs" in London that she first caught the eye of Sir Laurence Olivier quite a while before she caught his heart.

I mention this because the same part, 93 years and all, will be played by Norma Crane in John Houseman's theatre group presentation of the play at UCLA. Norma, in her early 20's, has just finished a comedy role in "All in a Night's Work" with Shirley MacLaine and Dean Martin and to prove her versatility she's also been signed for Mrs. Legs Diamond in an "Untouchables" chapter.

Open Letter

BY MIKE NICHOLS

Passing a newsstand recently my eye was caught by a movie magazine the cover of which featured prominently the beginning of an open letter from a Hollywood columnist to a Hollywood star. The letter began as follows (I am not making this up): "Stop drinking, it won't bring back your baby."

After some moments of dizziness accompanied by nausea it occurred to me that this must be vicious parody on someone's part and that as such it could not be surpassed or even equaled. The only thing that remains is to attempt to produce a perfectly straightforward Hollywood gossip column. Perhaps thus:

Open letter to Rick Noun — Friends and fans are saying that since the death of your wife and children last month you seem uppity. I know you don't mean it, Rick, because you're really a nice boy, but be careful. Fans are the people that made you, don't ever let them down . . . Claudine Rousseau called me from Rome where she is working on her new picture, "The Staten Island Story" to tell me that her Mexico divorce from Kevin Kelly is final. I asked about the rumors of romance between her and Jose Campo, but she said there is nothing to them although Jose does phone her every night from Kenya where he is filming the life of Patrick Henry . . . Ilsa Gustafson's analyst tells me that her recent suicide attempt will be her last. I know all her friends hope so. Ilsa is a very sweet person and in my opinion can be a star even if she pulls herself together. Her doctor, the prominent psychoanalyst Roger Poindextor, recently linked romantically with Bastienne Balzac, has been a great help to Ilsa. He says she is doing her best work to date in her new picture "Out of Africa" which she is presently filming at the Menninger Clinic . . .

I sent my girl Friday to visit my old friend Rena Renfrew at Cedars of Lebanon hospital where she is recovering from major surgery. I was shocked and deeply concerned to hear that Rena has grown immensely fat. Better watch those pounds, Rena. I know how badly you want to play Mary Magdalene in Minelli's "The Story of Jesus" and weight could make all the difference.

Hollywood is still talking about last week's beautiful Heart Ball, the proceeds of which, after the expenses of the ball, will go to the Heart Fund. It was so lovely. The theme of the Ball was Giving and the entire Ballroom of the beautiful Beverly Hilton Hotel was turned into a replica of Albert Schweitzer's Hospital in Africa. First prizes for costumes went to Western star Greg Brand and his beautiful Rita who came as Alfred North Whitehead and Joan of Arc. My personal favorites were The Platters and the McGee sisters who got together and came as the Twelve Apostles . . . I talked to Dora Jones at the Ball looking radiant as Sister Kenny. Dora, happily married to Dr. Harold Cunningham the popular brain surgeon, makes very few public appearances. Everyone commented on how lovely and youthful Dora looks. Many people would like to know the secret of her agelessness but I think Corsaro Caminetsky hit it on the head. Looking very handsome as St. Francis of Assisi, Corsaro told me, "Dora's secret is her goodness. It shines out of her eyes." I think we can all learn a lesson from Dora who since her retirement from pictures has been tireless in her job as vice president of U. S. Steel . . .

That's all the news for today. See you tomorrow for more about the people who make our town what it is.

In today's hand the first two rounds of bidding were reasonable enough, but South's bid of three no trump is not to our taste. He was operating under the preconceived notion that this was a three no trump hand, and paid no heed to his partner's warning against such a contract. North obviously was attempting to describe a highly unbalanced hand, one that was not suitable for a no trump contract. If North's hand were well adapted to no trump play, he would have raised to three no trump instead of mentioning the lowly minor suit.

Having given an adequate description of his hand both as to strength and type by his two no trump rebid, South should have returned to partner's first suit by bidding three hearts. North would have carried on to four. At that contract the losers would be limited to one heart and one club. At the no trump contract, against the diamond opening, South succeeded in taking only seven tricks.

South argued that he could not raise the hearts because he did not have normal trump support. This argument was without basis. The three heart bid would not be a raise, but a mere preference. It would say, in effect: "Partner, you must remember that I refused to raise your hearts. I bid two no trump for the simple reason that I would like to play this hand at no trump. If, however, you insist upon playing it at a suit, you might just as well play it at hearts as at clubs, because I have just as many hearts. However, I would be grateful if you could arrange to take me back to no trump."

It was suggested also that North should not permit the hand to play at no trump. To this reasoning we do not subscribe. North already has shown that he desires to play the hand at a suit and has been overridden in his judgment by South. To dispute any further would be a patronizing gesture toward his partner.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD — Sixty - four years ago Charles Sheldon's religious novel "In His Steps" was a best seller. Since that time over 30 million copies have been sold throughout the world, making this one of the most widely read novels of all time.

I have just been told that a young man whom I have not met, named Wilbur Stark, now plans to make a motion picture of Sheldon's novel. It's the story of a group of modern day Americans who pledge themselves to live according to the concepts of Biblical teachings, for a year.

Stark will take eight characters and depict what happens to them as they attempt to keep their pledge. I was curious about Stark, and when I asked about him, was told he has headquarters on the MGM lot and is a producer of radio and television shows.

Veteran actor Donald Crisp says he couldn't be more delighted that he's going to visit his birthplace Scotland when he goes to Edimburgh for "Greyfriars Bobby," Walt Disney's movie. This is Crisp's 418th motion picture and he says, "I am very happy at this opportunity to visit my homeland again, and to do a story I have loved since boyhood."

He'll play Mr. Brown, keeper of the Greyfriars churchyard, where Skye Terrier, whose enduring love for his dead master, kept watch at the old man's grave for nearly fourteen years. Donald leaves for New York July 19th, and sails on the SS America for Scotland July 22nd.

I think Mark Damon is one of the most attractive of the young actors. I have seen him several times with Joan Benny Rudolph (Jack's daughter), and he always gives me news about his career. He was very good in "House of Usher" with Vincent Price — so good that James Nicholson and Sam Arkoff signed him before they left for their trip around the world.

Mark was offered the role of Stephan in "The Wall," the Kermit Bloomgarten Broadway play, but he's decided to stick with Nicholson and Arkoff, and will have a role in Jules Verne's "Master of the World," again with Vincent Price. It starts September 7th.

Seems strange to think that it was while Joan Plowright was playing the role of a 93 year old woman in "The Chairs" in London that she first caught the eye of Sir Laurence Olivier quite a while before she caught his heart.

I mention this because the same part, 93 years and all, will be played by Norma Crane in John Houseman's theatre group presentation of the play at UCLA. Norma, in her early 20's, has just finished a comedy role in "All in a Night's Work" with Shirley MacLaine and Dean Martin and to prove her versatility she's also been signed for Mrs. Legs Diamond in an "Untouchables" chapter.

Spot Kidnap Car

SYDNEY, Australia (UPI) —Police threw up roadblocks Tuesday when a car suspected in the kidnaping of young Graeme Thorne was spotted in the Mona Vale district.

The 8-year-old son of Basil Thorne, a traveling salesman who won $224,000 tax free in a lottery last June 1, disappeared on his way to school last week.

Television and Radio

by John Crosby

(John Crosby is on vacation. During his absence his column is being conducted by guest writers.)

Open Letter

BY MIKE NICHOLS

Passing a newsstand recently my eye was caught by a movie magazine the cover of which featured prominently the beginning of an open letter from a Hollywood columnist to a Hollywood star. The letter began as follows (I am not making this up): "Stop drinking. it won't bring back your baby."

After some moments of dizziness accompanied by nausea it occurred to me that this must be vicious parody on someone's part and that as such it could not be surpassed or even equaled. The only thing that remains is to attempt to produce a perfectly straightforward Hollywood gossip column. Perhaps thus:

Open letter to Rick Noun — Friends and fans are saying that since the death of your wife and children last month you seem uppity. I know you don't mean it, Rick, because you're really a nice boy, but be careful. Fans are the people that made you, don't ever let them down . . . Claudine Rousseau called me from Rome where she is working on her new picture, "The Staten Island Story" to tell me that her Mexico divorce from Kevin Kelly is final. I asked about the rumors of romance between her and Jose Campo, but she said there is nothing to them although Jose does phone her every night from Kenya where he is filming the life of Patrick Henry . . . Her doctor, the prominent psychoanalyst Roger Poindexter, recently linked romantically with Bastienne Balzac, has been a great help to Ilsa. He says she is doing her best work to date in her new picture "Out of Africa" which she is presently filming at the Menninger Clinic . . .

I think we can all learn a lesson from Dora who since her retirement from pictures has been tireless in her job as vice president of U. S. Steel . . .

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear Husband and Father, Charles A. Jewell, who passed away seven years ago, July 13, 1953.
His life is a beautiful memory,
His absence a silent grief.
But he sleeps in God's beautiful garden.
In sunshine of perfect peace.

Browns, Packers Trade Players

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UPI)—The Cleveland Browns traded defensive end Willie Davis to the Green Bay Packers Tuesday for A. D. Williams, an offensive end.

Davis, a graduate of Grambling College, was a regular defensive end with the Browns. He played some offensive tackle last season, his second with the team, while Mike McCormick was out with a knee injury.

The trade was made because the Browns' regular offensive end, Billy Howton, is as yet unsigned for the 1960 season.

American League Schedule Changed

Cronin also announced that the Boston game at Washington Sept. 17 will start at 1 p.m., instead of at 4 p.m., as previously announced.

No News, Good News

HALIFAX, N.S. (AP)—Dr. Daniel Livingstone, a relative of the 19th century explorer-missionary, Dr. David Livingstone, is studying ice age glacial movements in a remote corner of the strife-torn Congo, his parents report. "We're assuming that no news from him is good news," said Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Livingstone.

Browns, Packers Trade Players

Davis, a graduate of Grambling College, was a regular defensive end with the Browns. He played some offensive tackle last season, his second with the team, while Mike McCormick was out with a knee injury.

Williams, a 215-pounder from the College of Pacific, played one season with Green Bay. He is reported to be exceptionally fast.

The trade was made because the Browns' regular offensive end, Billy Howton, is as yet unsigned for the 1960 season.

American League Schedule Changed

Cronin also announced that the Boston game at Washington Sept. 17 will start at 1 p.m., instead of at 4 p.m., as previously announced.

No News, Good News

HALIFAX, N.S. (AP)—Dr. Daniel Livingstone, a relative of the 19th century explorer-missionary, Dr. David Livingstone, is studying ice age glacial movements in a remote corner of the strife-torn Congo, his parents report. "We're assuming that no news from him is good news," said Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Livingstone.

Uncertainties Help Drive Stock Market Prices Down

NEW YORK (UPI) — Mounting international and economic uncertainties took their toll in stocks Tuesday, driving prices lower in all but a few groups.

Selling at first was cautious, but picked up momentum as the day wore on. Trading dwindled somewhat from Monday's pace indicating there wasn't any mass rush to unload.

The decline followed Monday's sharpest selloff in nearly two months. The two-day paper loss amounted to nearly $7 billion. Industrial and rail stocks are now down to their lowest levels on average since June 3.

The so-called bread-and-butter stocks—chemicals, steels and motors—were in a lower trend. Electronics fell sharply after a fairly strong start. Vending machines, lately favored, lost ground, as did drugs, utilities and glass issues.

Aircrafts resisted the market's over-all heaviness. Gains here rain to 2 points in Martin, 1⅛ in Marquardt and Boeing and a point in North American Aviation. Boeing and the Air Force have signed a $247 million contract covering the Minuteman missile.

Autos moved fractionally lower. Ford, Chrysler, General Motors and American Motors were off around a half or more. Some auto producers have ordered delays in their August steel shipments for their 1961 model changeovers.

Electronics featured losses of 13 points in IBM, 4¾ in Motorola, 4¼ in AMP and 3¼ in Beckman Instruments.

Uncertainties Help Drive Stock Market Prices Down

NEW YORK (UPI) — Mounting international and economic uncertainties took their toll in stocks Tuesday, driving prices lower in all but a few groups.

Selling at first was cautious, but picked up momentum as the day wore on. Trading dwindled somewhat from Monday's pace indicating there wasn't any mass rush to unload.

The decline followed Monday's sharpest selloff in nearly two months. The two-day paper loss amounted to nearly $7 billion. Industrial and rail stocks are now down to their lowest levels on average since June 3.

The so-called bread-and-butter stocks—chemicals, steels and motors—were in a lower trend. Electronics fell sharply after a fairly strong start. Vending machines, lately favored, lost ground, as did drugs, utilities and glass issues.

Aircrafts resisted the market's over-all heaviness. Gains here rain to 2 points in Martin, 1⅛ in Marquardt and Boeing and a point in North American Aviation. Boeing and the Air Force have signed a $247 million contract covering the Minuteman missile.

Thiokol, a maker of rocket fuels, finished with a gain of ⅞. It was up around 3 points at its top.

Autos moved fractionally lower. Ford, Chrysler, General Motors and American Motors were off around a half or more. Some auto producers have ordered delays in their August steel shipments for their 1961 model changeovers.

Electronics featured losses of 13 points in IBM, 4¾ in Motorola, 4¼ in AMP and 3¼ in Beckman Instruments.

Two Are Hurt In Accident Near Oldtown

Mrs. Shinnamon Undergoes Surgery

A local businessman's wife suffered a badly lacerated right elbow and hand yesterday in a three-car accident on Maryland Route 51 about a mile west of Oldtown.

She is Mrs. Hazel Shinnamon, 46-year-old wife of Louis V. Shinnamon, Henry Drive, LaVale. Late last night she was undergoing surgery at Memorial Hospital.

State Police last night were questioning Thomas Lewis Jr., 35, of Wiley Ford, W. Va., who was the driver of one of the cars. He apparently was uninjured.

The driver of the third car was Harold M. Shrout, 31, of Oldtown, who was driving his car west toward Cumberland.

Tried To Pass

Trooper Willis Foreman said the Shinnamons were traveling east in the direction of Paw Paw. A 1956 model car operated by Lewis was headed in the same direction at an apparent high rate of speed, he said.

The trooper said Lewis attempted to pass the Shinnamons, who were riding in a small foreign-make car, when he saw Shrout approaching from the opposite direction. The car operated by Lewis rammed into the small sports car.

The small car was struck on the side, was turned over by the impact and landed on its top in the middle of the highway.

Both Mr. and Mrs Shinnamon had to be removed from their car and placed in an ambulance and taken to the local hospital.

Driver Arrested

Trooper Foreman said Lewis got out of the car and ran toward Oldtown and later caught a ride back to Cumberland where he was arrested by local police.

No charges have been filed pending completion of the investigation, said Trooper Foreman.

Woman Hurt In Auto Accident

Mrs. Hazel Shinnamon, wife of Louis V. Shinnamon, local businessman, is shown being taken from the scene of an accident yesterday evening in which she sustained a badly lacerated right arm. Mrs. Shinnamon was a passenger in a car operated by her husband which was struck by another car on Route 51 near Oldtown. The Shinnamon car is shown on its top in the middle of the highway where it came to rest after being hit by the other car. The picture was taken by Gene Miller of Cumberland.

Mental Health Program May Be Provided

Psychiatric Resident Sought For Clinics

The Allegany County Health Department is working out a plan to secure the services of a senior resident in psychiatry for its mental health clinics, according to Dr. Ton van Strien, county health officer.

He said he has asked that Allegany County be included in a new mental health training program which was instituted this month in eight county health departments, including Washington County.

The request was made, Dr. van Strien said, after Dr. David Edwards, who had been serving as child psychologist for the department, resigned on July 1.

Under the cooperative program, six resident psychatrists from Maryland training institutions will work one day a week in a county mental health clinic.

The residents will direct the clinics, serve as psychiatric consultants to the health departments and be available as consultants for private physicians and community agencies.

The state program was instituted, Dr. van Strien said, to provide psychatric service to understaffed areas and to incorporate practical and theoretical aspects of public health psychiatry into the psyhiatric residency programs existing in Maryland.

Dr. van Strien is now occupying office quarters on the second floor of the Union Street County Building.

He has been directing the work of the department from a desk on the first floor of the building since the department moved from the Public Safety Building some months ago. His telephone number is PArkview 2-4162.

Dr. van Strien said that calls to the Health Department will be expedited if the proper number is called.

Calls to the Vital Statistics and Medical Care units, he said, should be made to PArkview 2-3010; sanitation and nuisance complaints to PArkview 2-5303; nursing, clinical service and hospitalization problems PArkview 2-1200, and mental health to PArkview 2-4162.

GEORGE W. HUBLEY JR.

Hubley Speaker At Meeting Of Industrial Unit

Neff Will Present Activities Report

The annual meeting of the Cumberland Industrial Development Company will be held Friday at 7:30 p. m. in the ballroom of the Fort Cumberland Hotel.

It will feature an address by George W. Hubley Jr., director of the newly created Maryland Department of Economic Development.

Business will include the election of seven directors.

Leonard C. Neff Jr., CIDC director, will present a formal report on the activities of the company during the past year.

Mr. Hubley, a native of Louisville, Ky., has been engaged for over two decades in the direction of resource development programs at the state, regional and federal levels.

He has served as a consultant in industrial development for private industry and has done area development work with a number of agencies, including the Metropolitan Planning Commission of Atlanta, Ga., and the Ohio Valley Improvement Association of Cincinnati.

Prior to his appointment as director of Maryland's Department of Economic Development, he was Kentucky's Commissioner of Economic Development.

He is a past president of the Southern Association of State Planning and Development agencies and is now president of the National Association of State Planning and Development Agencies.

He is a 1933 graduate of the University of Louisville and did graduate work at the University of Chicago.

Murder Charge Is Filed In Area Shooting

French J. White Funeral Tomorrow

Mrs. Alice Davis Harper of East Sparta, Ohio, 25-year-old mother of three small children, has been charged with murder in the fatal shooting of her stepfather, French Junior White, 49, of near Springfield, W. Va. on Monday night, Hampshire County authorities said last night.

Mrs. Harper was taken before Justice of the Peace A. L. Russell in Romney last evening and was released under $2,500 bond pending action of the grand jury which has been called back into special session on Monday.

The woman, said Attorney Haines, signed a statement admitting that she fired the .22 calibre rifle in the shooting. She went to the West Virginia state police barracks at Romney, gave herself up, and reported the incident.

Shot In Back

White, 49-year-old Amcelle plant worker was slain Monday night in the yard of his home near Springfield and died of a internal hemorrhage after being struck in the back with a slug from a .22 calibre rifle.

Sgt. R. R. Karickhoff, head of the Romney detachment, said the woman came to the barracks in a hysterical condition and reported the shooting.

He and Trooper Ralph Keaton went to the scene to check out her report. An investigation is being continued, according to Sgt. Karickhoff who said that at least three more witnesses have to be questioned.

According to information by various authorities, Mrs. Harper, her husband, and children were visiting her mother, stepfather and their family for the first time in six years.

A family argument brought about the shooting, authorities said. It was reported that a shotgun had been wielded by White before he was shot.

Funeral Tomorrow

Mr. White was born at Job, W. Va., and was a son of the late Martin and Sarah (White) White.

He is survived by his widow, Gertie A. (Helmick) White; four children, Mary Louise, Clinton J., Anna M. and George D. White, all at home; two sisters, Mrs. Bessie Clowson, Wiley Ford, and Mrs. Catherine Arbogast, California, and four brothers, Russell and Londie, both of Wiley Ford; Harry, Newport News, Va., and Melvin White, Job.

The body is at the Shaffer Funeral Home, Romney, and this afternoon will be taken to the Loar Funeral Home, Elkins. Funeral services will be conducted there tomorrow and burial will be in the White Cemetery at Job.

Object Hits Windshield; Two Hurt

Two persons were slightly injured yesterday when an object, presumably a slug from a gun, shattered a section of the windshield of a stationwagon being operated by a former Westernport resident back home on a visit.

Maryland State Police said last night the object may have been a slug although no evidence had been found in the immediate vicinity.

Slightly injured were Mrs. Joyce Whitworth and Carol Sue Wilt, passengers in the vehicle. Bits of glass penetrated their arms, police said.

Commissioners Approve Two Transactions

The commissioners first sanctioned the sale of the Oster house at Flintstone to Leonard W. Johnson and Bessie W. Johnson by the Allegany County Board of Education.

Several weeks ago, Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster appeared before the commissioners to explain the situation. The school board was interested in acquiring the Oster land in order to enlarge the athletic field at Flintstone High School. However, to get the land it was also necessary to buy the unneeded house from the Osters.

The county commissioners also accepted a $50 bid from Louis B. Young, 439 North Centre Street, for lots 384 and 385 of Welsh's Bedford Heights Addition, Election Districe 23. Mr. Young had offered to buy the lots and thereby place them back on the tax books in a letter dated July 2.

A petition signed by 47 residents and property owners asked the county commissioners to hard surface a road in lower Homewood Addition. This improvement is requested from a point above Greenpoint on the old Mt. Savage Road to Homewood Chapel and then to the Western Maryland Railway.

This petition, which bore the date of August 17, 1959, was referred to County Roads Supervisor Harry T. Skelly for investigation.

Area Angus Breeders Buy Great Meadows Stock

A number of Angus beef cattle sales involving herds in the Tri-State area were featured in the current issue of Angus Topics, a Warrenton, Va., publication which is circulated throughout the eastern United States.

The top selling bull at the recent Atlantic Angus spring sale at Culpeper, Va., was Prince of Red Gate 77. This high-priced bull was purchased by the Fort Hill Farm owned by Clyde Bonar and Sons of Burlington, W. Va. He was purchased from the Great Meadows Farm of Frostburg.

Most of the Angus cattle from the Great Meadows herd, which once numbered about 300 head, has been sold by the Jenkins family. However, Nelson Hutchins, who served as manager of Great Meadows, has acquired about 40 head of the Angus stock and is continuing operations of the farm in his own name.

Prince of Red Gae 77 is described in Angus Topics as the son of Imperial Prince of Rowley and one of the herd sires in the large Western Maryland herd.

Several other West Virginia breeders selected herd improvers from the Great Meadows cattle at the Culpeper sale. G. H. Branson of Lost River in Hardy County, W. Va., bought Downsbragh Eileenmere 9th. J. Ward Wood, also of Lost River, bought several groups of Great Meadow cows. Many of the Great Meadows foundation cow herd had come from the Bonar farm at Burlington.

Jonah Funkhouser of Baker, also in Hardy County, purchased one of the good bred heifers from Robert E. Ludwig's White Oak Farms, also at Baker. The White Oak herd also is being dispersed.

Firefighters Take Part In Mock Drill

Eight volunteer fire companies of the Tri-Towns and Georges Creek area yesterday took part in a mock Civil Defense run in which the Lonaconing silk mill was the target.

Fire Chief James Lamberson of the Barton Hose Company, who was in charge of the run, said 75 volunteers took part in the drill and 1,600 feet of hose was relayed between the pumpers and building.

Companies that "stood by" were Luke, Westernport and Bloomington. This is the first time in several years that a drill has been held, and future drills are being planned, a Civil Defense official said.

Chief Lamberson is coordinator for the Tri-Towns area of the CD program and the drill was held in conjunction with the fire service of the Allegany County CD setup.

The volunteers, who left their stations at 5:40 p. m., were out until about 7:30 p. m.

City Asks Speedup On Home Demolition

Mayor J. Edwin Keech has asked the State Roads Commission to expedite the demolition of houses it has purchased within the city limits.

He wrote John D. Bushby, District 6 engineer, that a number of the buildings are in various stages of demolition and are an eyesore.

Mayor Keech added that Cumberland is taking action against some of its taxpayers by condemning sub-standard housing and that it is embarrassing to advise a taxpayer he must remove a certain building when the state has 10 or more houses which are in worse condition.

Ridgeley Man Hurt While Painting House

Injured In Shop, Asks $20,000

An Altoona, Pa., man who walked into the Maryland Nut Shop nearly three years ago to transact business and complains that he was injured while attempting to help the proprietor lift an airconditioner into place, has filed a $20,000 damage suit in Allegany County Circuit Court.

Elwood McCauley of 110 East Second Avenue, Altoona, through Attorneys William C. Walsh and William Walsh, filed the action against Harry K. Allison and Alice B. Allison, trading as the Maryland Nut Shop, 21 North Mechanic Street.

Mr. McCauley asserts in his declaration that he went into the Nut Shop on July 19, 1957, for the purpose of transacting business with the defendant. He contends that Mr. Allison requested him to assist him in lifting an air conditioning unit onto a wooden shelf above the floor.

In the course of the operation, the plaintiff says he stepped onto a magnesium step ladder but the cross bar collapsed, causing the air conditioner to strike him on the head, left arm, hand, neck, back, hip and leg. He contends he was required to pay considerable medical and hospital expenses.

Two Are Hurt In Accident Near Oldtown

Mrs. Shinnamon Undergoes Surgery

A local businessman's wife suffered a badly lacerated right elbow and hand yesterday in a three-car accident on Maryland Route 51 about a mile west of Oldtown.

She is Mrs. Hazel Shinnamon, 46-year-old wife of Louis V. Shinnamon, Henry Drive, La-Vale. Late last night she was undergoing surgery at Memorial Hospital.

Her husband, who sustained a number bruises and abrasions, was treated at the hospital and released.

State Police last night were questioning Thomas Lewis Jr., 35, of Wiley Ford, W. Va., who was the driver of one of the cars. He apparently was uninjured.

The driver of the third car was Harold M. Shrout, 31, of Oldtown, who was driving his car west toward Cumberland.

Tried To Pass

Trooper Willis Foreman said the Shinnamons were traveling east in the direction of Paw Paw. A 1956 model car operated by Lewis was headed in the same direction at an apparent high rate of speed, he said.

The trooper said Lewis attempted to pass the Shinnamons, who were riding in a small foreign-make car, when he saw Shrout approaching from the opposite direction. The car operated by Lewis rammed into the small sports car.

The small car was struck on the side, was turned over by the impact and landed on its top in the middle of the highway.

Both Mr. and Mrs Shinnamon had to be removed from their car and placed in an ambulance and taken to the local hospital.

Driver Arrested

Trooper Foreman said Lewis got out of the car and ran toward Oldtown and later caught a ride back to Cumberland where he was arrested by local police.

No charges have been filed pending completion of the investigation, said Trooper Foreman.

Woman Hurt In Auto Accident

Mrs. Hazel Shinnamon, wife of Louis V. Shinnamon, local businessman, is shown being taken from the scene of an accident yesterday evening in which she sustained a badly lacerated right arm. Mrs. Shinnamon was a passenger in a car operated by her husband which was struck by another car on Route 51 near Oldtown. The Shinnamon car is shown on its top in the middle of the highway where it came to rest after being hit by the other car. The picture was taken by Gene Miller of Cumberland.

Mental Health Program May Be Provided

Psychiatric Resident Sought For Clinics

The Allegany County Health Department is working out a plan to secure the services of a senior resident in psychiatry for its mental health clinics, according to Dr. Ton van Strien, county health officer.

He said he has asked that Allegany County be included in a new mental health training program which was instituted this month in eight county health departments, including Washington County.

The request was made, Dr. van Strien said, after Dr. David Edwards, who had been serving as child psychologist for the department, resigned on July 1.

Under the cooperative program, six resident psychatrists from Maryland training institutions will work one day a week in a county mental health clinic.

The residents will direct the clinics, serve as psychiatric consultants to the health departments and be available as consultants for private physicians and community agencies.

The state program was instituted, Dr. van Strien said, to provide psychatric service to understaffed areas and to incorporate practical and theoretical aspects of public health psychiatry into the psyhiatric residency programs existing in Maryland.

Dr. van Strien is now occupying office quarters on the second floor of the Union Street County Building.

He has been directing the work of the department from a desk on the first floor of the building since the department moved from the Public Safety Building some months ago. His telephone number is PArkview 2-4162.

Dr. van Strien said that calls to the Health Department will be expedited if the proper number is called.

Calls to the Vital Statistics and Medical Care units, he said, should be made to PArkview 2-3010; sanitation and nuisance complaints to PArkview 2-5303; nursing, clinical service and hospitalization problems PArkview 2-1200, and mental health to PArkview 2-4162.

Murder Charge Is Filed In Area Shooting

French J. White Funeral Tomorrow

Mrs. Alice Davis Harper of East Sparta, Ohio, 25-year-old mother of three small children, has been charged with murder in the fatal shooting of her stepfather, French Junior White, 49, of near Springfield, W. Va. on Monday night, Hampshire County authorities said last night.

Mrs. Harper was taken before Justice of the Peace A. L. Russell in Romney last evening and was released under $2,500 bond pending action of the grand jury which has been called back into special session on Monday.

Russell Haines, prosecuting attorney of Hampshire County, said last night the state placed a charge of murder against the defendant.

The woman, said Attorney Haines, signed a statement admitting that she fired the .22 calibre rifle in the shooting. She went to the West Virginia state police barracks at Romney, gave herself up, and reported the incident.

Shot In Back

White, 49-year-old Amcelle plant worker was slain Monday night in the yard of his home near Springfield and died of a internal hemorrhage after being struck in the back with a slug from a .22 calibre rifle.

Sgt. R. R. Karickhoff, head of the Romney detachment, said the woman came to the barracks in a hysterical condition and reported the shooting.

He and Trooper Ralph Keaton went to the scene to check out her report. An investigation is being continued, according to Sgt. Karickhoff who said that at least three more witnesses have to be questioned.

According to information by various authorities, Mrs. Harper, her husband, and children were visiting her mother, stepfather and their family for the first time in six years.

A family argument brought about the shooting, authorities said. It was reported that a shotgun had been wielded by White before he was shot.

Funeral Tomorrow

White was employed for the past year in the cellulose compounds manufacturing section of the Amcelle plant of Celanese Fibers Company.

Mr. White was born at Job, W. Va., and was a son of the late Martin and Sarah (White) White.

Commissioners Approve Two Transactions

Two property transactions got the approval of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday.

The commissioners first sanctioned the sale of the Oster house at Flintstone to Leonard W. Johnson and Bessie W. Johnson by the Allegany County Board of Education.

Several weeks ago, Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster appeared before the commissioners to explain the situation. The school board was interested in acquiring the Oster land in order to enlarge the athletic field at Flintstone High School. However, to get the land it was also necessary to buy the unneeded house from the Osters.

The county commissioners also accepted a $50 bid from Louis B. Young, 439 North Centre Street, for lots 384 and 385 of Welsh's Bedford Heights Addition, Election Districe 23. Mr. Young had offered to buy the lots and thereby place them back on the tax books in a letter dated July 2.

A petition signed by 47 residents and property owners asked the county commissioners to hard surface a road in lower Homewood Addition. This improvement is requested from a point above Greenpoint on the old Mt. Savage Road to Homewood Chapel and then to the Western Maryland Railway.

This petition, which bore the date of August 17, 1959, was referred to County Roads Supervisor Harry T. Skelly for investigation.

Injured In Shop, Asks $20,000

An Altoona, Pa., man who walked into the Maryland Nut Shop nearly three years ago to transact business and complains that he was injured while attempting to help the proprietor lift an airconditioner into place, has filed a $20,000 damage suit in Allegany County Circuit Court.

Elwood McCauley of 110 East Second Avenue, Altoona, through Attorneys William C. Walsh and William Walsh, filed the action against Harry K. Allison and Alice B. Allison, trading as the Maryland Nut Shop, 21 North Mechanic Street.

Mr. McCauley asserts in his declaration that he went into the Nut Shop on July 19, 1957, for the purpose of transacting business with the defendant. He contends that Mr. Allison requested him to assist him in lifting an air conditioning unit onto a wooden shelf above the floor.

In the course of the operation, the plaintiff says he stepped onto a magnesium step ladder but the cross bar collapsed, causing the air conditioner to strike him on the head, left arm, hand, neck, back, hip and leg. He contends he was required to pay considerable medical and hospital expenses.

Area Angus Breeders Buy Great Meadows Stock

A number of Angus beef cattle sales involving herds in the Tri-State area were featured in the current issue of Angus Topics, a Warrenton, Va., publication which is circulated throughout the eastern United States.

The top selling bull at the recent Atlantic Angus spring sale at Culpeper, Va., was Prince of Red Gate 77. This high-priced bull was purchased by the Fort Hill Farm owned by Clyde Bonar and Sons of Burlington, W. Va. He was purchased from the Great Meadows Farm of Frostburg.

Most of the Angus cattle from the Great Meadows herd, which once numbered about 300 head, has been sold by the Jenkins family. However, Nelson Hutchins, who served as manager of Great Meadows, has acquired about 40 head of the Angus stock and is continuing operations of the farm in his own name.

Prince of Red Gae 77 is described in Angus Topics as the son of Imperial Prince of Rowley and one of the herd sires in the large Western Maryland herd.

Several other West Virginia breeders selected herd improvers from the Great Meadows cattle at the Culpeper sale. G. H. Branson of Lost River in Hardy County, W. Va., bought Downsbragh Eileenmere 9th. J. Ward Wood, also of Lost River, bought several groups of Great Meadow cows. Many of the Great Meadows foundation cow herd had come from the Bonar farm at Burlington.

Jonah Funkhouser of Baker, also in Hardy County, purchased one of the good bred heifers from Robert E. Ludwig's White Oak Farms, also at Baker. The White Oak herd also is being dispersed.
